4 DEAD, 90 HURT IN STEEL RIOT

60,000 PARADE TODAY AS CITY HONORS HEROES

Recall Sacrifices in Memorial Tributes.

The order of the Memorial Day parade will be found on page 12.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Sixty thousand men will march down Michigan avenue today. And forty will ride in shining black cars.

For three hours the tramp of marching feet, the staccato blasts of bugles, the rumble of war tanks and artillery, the clatter of horses' hooves, and the stir of martial music will drown out the cacophony of peace time activities.

70 Years Without Lapse.

It will be Chicago's annual Memorial day parade, the only show of military panoply to which Chicago has clung without hesitancy, through lean years and fat, for seven decades.

In such manner will the city rededicate itself today to the memory of its heroic dead of all wars.

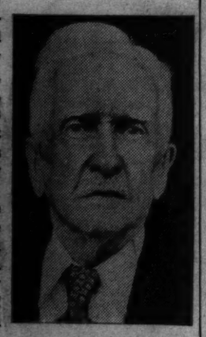
The rededication started yesterday, Memorial day proper, when a blue staffed memorial flag was placed on the grave of each of Chicago's 25,000 soldier dead under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic Memorial association. In 123 cemeteries throughout Cook county, amid ceremonies of solemn simplicity, taps was sounded and flowers strewn. Graceland and Rosehill cemeteries alone were visited by more than 50,000 persons, many of them in family groups, between dawn and dusk.

Today's parade will start at 2 p. m., with the threat of cloudy skies and a late evening rain. The line of march is down Michigan from Chicago avenue to Roosevelt road and west to Wabash, where the parade will disband.

Reviewing Stand in Park.

Gov. Horner will be the reviewing officer in chief. With other state, city, and federal officials, resident consuls and civic and patriotic leaders, he will occupy a stand on the Grant park plaza on the east side of Michigan avenue at Congress street.

Leading the parade this year, as they have done for almost 70 years, will be Cook county's veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Until 1932 they marched, but now, their spirits ageless but their legs feeble, they ride.



Lieut. Julius H. Reed [Grand marshal.]

At the head of the boys of '61 will ride a doughty veteran of parades and battles, Lieut. Julius H. Reed, who fought at Gettysburg, flaunts innumerable medals, at 95 is incorrigibly active, and now—for the second year—is grand marshal of the Memorial parade.

Wearing the Blue Again.

Behind him, the brass buttons on their faded blue uniforms polished to high brilliance, old black campaign hats on their white heads, will come some 37 or 39 others, all of the 40 comrades left in Cook county who are not too feeble to ride.

But James Brown, who is 105, is sure to be there. The oldest of the lot, colored and an ex-slave, he nourishes his strength for weeks before hand to make his yearly appearance. Maj. George Mason, who at 97, still appears daily at his office, will be on hand, and so will many others, shoulders bent, but pride unshakeable.

In the second division of the parade, with attendant auxiliary organizations, will come the boys of '98, those of the Spanish-American war. They will walk, most of them, but even their steps are not unwavering now. Following them will be veterans of foreign wars.

Still Marching, As in 1918.

The third division will be that of the boys of '18, still strong, hearty and counting their numbers by the thousands, rather than by the tens. Some will have their sons beside them. And at the end of the line, escorted by Boy Scouts, will be Gold

NAVY STEAMS UP AS NAZIS MOURN 23 SLAIN TARS

Spanish Air Attack Called 'Criminal.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 31.—[Monday.]—The peace of Europe hung in the balance early today as Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and his principal lieutenants planned what action Germany will take against the Spanish [Madrid-Valencia] government. The Nazis are prepared to avenge the disastrous bombing of the 10,000 ton pocket battleship Deutschland by two loyalist planes Saturday off Ibiza, an island of the Balearics. Twenty-three members of the crew were killed, 19 seriously wounded and 64 slightly wounded.

All shore leaves of the German navy were canceled and every warship flying the swastika flag was waiting with steam up for further instructions. The news of the attack on the Deutschland was relayed from ship to ship around the world. It is believed that today's navy day review at Kiel—marking the 21st anniversary of the battle of Jutland—will be turned into a day of mourning while funeral services are held for the victims at Gibraltar.

Spanish Liner Torpedoed, Sunk.

The crisis was further complicated last night when the 3,496 ton Spanish steamer Ciudad de Barcelona was torpedoed and sunk off Malgrat, thirty-seven miles northeast of Barcelona, by a submarine of "unknown nationality," according to Valencia's statement. The vessel was understood to have left Marseilles with a heavy passenger list.

The German cabinet issued a communique flaying the "criminal attack" on the Deutschland and saying the government is compelled "to take measures" which it will communicate to the meeting of the European nonintervention committee today in London. Word came from Rome that Italy will support Germany before the 27 nation committee in demanding satisfaction.

[According to dispatches from Rome, it is believed there that Italy and Germany will act in concert to exact reparations from loyalist Spain. It is thought the two governments will take the law into their own hands and proceed directly against the Valencia government, merely informing the nonintervention committee in London, as an act of courtesy, of what they propose to do. It is the view here that recent bombings of Italian and German warships can no longer be attributed to error.]

Taken to Gibraltar Hospital.

Incidents have been piling up and the tempo of action became swifter. It was first learned that the stricken warship was not the battleship Admiral Scheer, as Valencia had announced Saturday, but the sister ship Deutschland. Valencia stuck by its assertion that the Deutschland opened anti-aircraft fire on the two planes and provoked the attack, but Germany declared the warship fired no shots. Valencia asserted the warship was patroling waters not assigned to it by the nonintervention committee.

It was announced that the sailors were killed and wounded when one bomb exploded in the messroom and another burst on the foredeck. No officers were killed. Other bombs missed their mark. The Deutschland with Rear Admiral Fischel aboard steamed to Gibraltar, where last night twenty of the injured were rushed to the British hospital.

Nazi Chiefs Fly to Berlin.

Only Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels and War Minister General Werner von Blomberg were in Berlin when news of the Deutschland attack was received. Foreign Minister Konstantin von Neurath and Chief of Navy Admiral Erich Raeder informed Hitler at the agricultural fair at Munich and all returned to the capital by plane. Air Minister Colonel General Hermann Wilhelm Goering flew in from Weimar where he was lecturing Nazi party leaders on the urgency of the four year plan. Minister of Interior Dr. Wilhelm Frick came from Bremen

THE PSYCHOPATH

CAR BUILT FOR POPE'S COMFORT IS BIRTHDAY GIFT; DELIGHTS HIM

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, May 30.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. was given an automobile with gears and body designed especially for his comfort as a birthday present today. He will be 80 years old tomorrow.

The pontiff, his face thinned by long illness, smiled brightly when he saw the car, stepped into it and sat down virtually without assistance.

"It is just what we wanted!" he exclaimed. "We probably will take the first drive in it on our 80th birthday tomorrow."

The automobile is not new, but was reconstructed by Vatican prelates. It was made in Germany.

Telegrams congratulating the pope on his birthday began coming in from all parts of the world. He worked on the address he will deliver at the inauguration of the new pontifical academy as one of the ceremonies to mark the day.

COMMONS SEATS CHAMBERLAIN AS PREMIER TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 31.—[Monday.]—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain will take his place in the house of commons for the first time this afternoon, occupying the traditional seat of England's prime minister on the "treasury bench." There will be no special ceremony or formality.

Before he goes to the commons, Chamberlain will be named leader of the Conservative party in succession to his predecessor as prime minister, Stanley Baldwin. Chamberlain's election, which will take place at a party meeting in Caxton hall, Westminster, at noon, is expected to be unanimous.

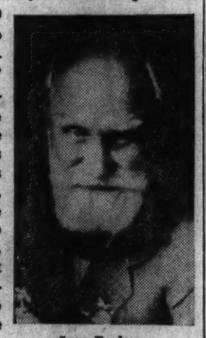
Baldwin will not be present. A resolution expressing appreciation of services which Baldwin rendered the party will be moved by Viscount Fitzalan, Catholic peer.

Sailor Weds Shipp; Both Now on Matrimonial Sea

Boise, Idaho, May 30.—A Sailor was licensed here to marry a Shipp. The applicants for license to wed were Mabel Forrest Sailor and Alvie E. Shipp, both of Boise. The couple announced their plans for a honeymoon—a sea voyage.

Poor Achilles Develops Into Heebie Jeebie

Ithaca, N. Y., May 30.—(AP)—Cornell university today announced purchase of a 100 acre farm to raise "heebie jeebies," its population to be Achilles the pig who has a nervous breakdown, Homer the goat, who has one too, and a flock of other animals who will imitate man's artificial civilization to discover the cause and cure of nerves, psychosis, and delinquency.



Ivan Pavlov. [Originated idea.]

Achilles and Homer broke down trying to eat under the annoying etiquette imposed by an electric buzzer. Sheep, representing the feminine contingent, went haywire, too.

Test Effects of Heredity.

The farm will make it possible to test the effects of heredity, now the number one suspect in the "heebie jeebie" world. There for the first time will be bred generations of animals with nerves which can stand the gaff, and others which cannot.

By comparing the two kinds of nerve tissue, it is hoped to discover the secret of the kind that stands the stress of life.

The "heebie jeebie" farm will be a simplified world, devoid of most of the human complexities which mask both cause and cure of nerves. It will be a kindly world for its humble citizens, in contrast to man's "cruel world."

Parlor Pupil in Charge.

The original idea came from the late Ivan Pavlov, the Russian psychologist. For sixteen years Cornell has been at the preliminary work, proving the principles and possibilities. One of Pavlov's pupils, Dr. Howard Scott Liddell, has been in charge.

Dr. Liddell and associates showed that nerves once damaged by mental conflict tend to suffer permanent structural changes. They discovered that two drugs, adrenalin and cortin, will bring back damaged nerves, but only temporarily.

Their animals proved that the prime cause of nerves is loss of self restraint.

The scientific world has been so impressed that the Rockefeller foundation and the Josiah Macy Jr. foundation have given financial support.

"The studies," said a statement from the university, "are expected to throw further light not only on the problems of psychiatry, but also on the general problems of mental hygiene, including those of delinquency."

600 KENTUCKY HOGS REPEL WORM INVASION; THEY EAT INVADERS

Bowling Green, Ky., May 30.—(AP)—Six hundred hogs repelled an invasion of thousands of army worms in the Oakland section of Warren county today. They ate the invaders. Thousands of army worms infested a 140 acre rye field on the farm of Estill Mansfield. They began a march toward a wheat field on the adjoining farm of Beckham Martin.

Farmer Martin thwarted the advance by turning 200 hogs into a lane between the fields. Observing what neighbor Martin's hogs had accomplished, Mansfield put 400 hogs into the rye field. He reported the field was cleaned of the pests.

OAK PARK POLICE IN HOT FIGHT; WIN MORAL VICTORY

With the temperature in the nineties, Oak Park policemen cast envious looks toward the station basement yesterday. Three half barrels of beer were lodged there. The beer, however, is to be evidence in the trial tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Alfred Brennan of John Schober, 5049 Avondale avenue, a beer truck driver.

Schober was arrested Saturday night while delivering the beer to a wedding party at the Oak Park Arms hotel, 408 South Oak Park avenue, contrary to a village law which forbids beer and liquor delivery.

Judges Kept on Hand by Making Them Sleep in Jails

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

GUATAMALA CITY, May 30.—Guatamala has solved a difficulty with its judiciary by ordering justices of the peace to take turns sleeping at police headquarters. It's stated the justices heretofore have been absent oftener than present when cases of homicide and other matters requiring their attention developed suddenly.

Soviets Told C. I. O. Leads to Bolshevism

Field for Recruits

The report to Moscow of William Z. Foster, No. 1 man in the American communist party, as presented herewith by Mr. Day, reiterates previous declarations of Red backing for the C. I. O. Foster, three times communist candidate for President, in a pamphlet issued last January on the steel strike, said the communist party is mobilized behind the C. I. O. and aims at a soviet dictatorship in America.

"The communist party," Foster's booklet says, "heartily supports the C. I. O. organizing campaigns in the steel, automobile, rubber, glass, textile, oil and other industries and it mobilizes all its forces to assist in this work."

As early as last October the communist leader emphasized the party's objectives—namely: build up the C. I. O. and recruit for the communist party from it.

Foster in 1918 led the great steel strike in which 400,000 workers walked out.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 30.—Close collaboration between John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization—the C. I. O.—and the communist party was emphasized in a special report made to the IKKI—executive committee of communist internationale—by William Z. Foster, president of the American branch of the communist party.

William Z. Foster.

Foster assured Moscow that the near future will bring victory for the C. I. O. over the conservative American Federation of Labor leaders and that all factors now are working toward the growth of a class conscious working class in America, which will come under the direction of Moscow.

Chief Points of Report.

The chief points of Foster's report, which was published in the comintern's official journal, Kommunistieheski Internationale, are:

FIRST—The sympathy and support of President Roosevelt's administration is on the side of the C. I. O.

SECOND—Through the activities of the C. I. O., workers are organizing a separate political and economic class. As a result vast forces of workers are rallying to the teachings of soviet Russia with the aim of creating a great American Popular Front.

THIRD—The C. I. O. and the communist party is fostering a growing militant spirit which is defeating the

POLICE REPULSE MOB ATTACK ON S. CHICAGO MILL

26 Bluecoats Are Injured in Battle.

A full page of spectacular pictures of the steel plant riot, including closeups of the hand to hand fighting, will be found on the back page of this issue of The Tribune.

Steel strike rioters, attempting to invade the Republic Steel corporation's plant in South Chicago, precipitated a bloody battle yesterday when they hooted down the warning of Chicago policemen that the company's property would be protected.

Four men were killed and 90 persons were sent to hospitals with gunshot wounds, cracked heads, broken limbs, or injuries caused by brickbats and steel riveting bolts. Thirty of the injured were victims of gunfire. Twenty-six of the injured were policemen. More than 1,000 rioters engaged in the battle.

Arms of Rioters.

The rioters were armed with clubs, slingshots and steel bolts, revolvers, cranks and gear shift levers from cars, bricks, and other missils. After their repulse in the invasion, which began at 4 p. m., they tried to reassemble for another attack, but gave it up upon the arrival of police reinforcements.

The police stood their ground and made no effort to harm the attackers until pelted with brickbats and bolts. The police then defended themselves with tear gas. When the rioters resorted to firearms, the police said, they were forced to draw their revolvers to protect themselves. Even then, they first fired into the air as a final warning, according to James L. Mooney, supervising police captain.

Three Dead Unidentified.

At a late hour three of the dead were unidentified. This lent support to reports that outside agitators played a leading part in the raid on the mill. The three unidentified were shot to death. The fourth fatality, Earl Hanley, 37 years old, 3307 Michigan avenue, Indiana Harbor, East Chicago, died of a fractured skull. He was a carpenter for the Inland Steel company at Indiana Harbor.

Gov. Horner arrived from Springfield an hour after the battle and promptly went into conference at the Southmoor hotel with Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, Van A. Bittner, regional director of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization; Michael L. Igoe, United States attorney, and H. L. Hyman, manager of the steel company.

Meet Again Tonight.

The governor adjourned the meeting until 7 p. m. tonight in the Congress hotel pending an expression by the company on a suggestion that its employés vote to determine if they wish C. I. O. representation. The governor said he expects no more trouble, and it was learned that Bittner had promised there would be no more demonstrations today. The governor gave no hint of any plan to call out the militia.

It is the S. W. O. C. which ordered the strike last Wednesday that has thrown 70,000 steel workers out of work in five states—22,000 of them in the Chicago area. The strike was launched in plants of three big independent companies—the Inland, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Republic companies—to force them to sign collective bargaining contracts with the C. I. O. union.

Joseph Weber, field representative of the S. W. O. C. and chairman of the meeting which preceded yesterday's bloodshed, telephoned a report of the riot to Lewis.

Several Women Injured.

Several women and boys were among the injured. Some of these were observers who had gone to the scene to see what would happen.

The injured were taken to hospitals on the south side. Thirty-six less seriously injured were arrested after being treated.

The riot developed at a strike meeting held to protest the action of police who turned them back Friday night when they first attempted to invade the Republic plant. Although five of the independent steel plants in the South Chicago-Calumet region have been closed the Republic plant has continued to operate with 1,400 loyal employés spurning the strike call.

The strikers met yesterday outside a former dance hall known as Sam's place, the union's temporary headquarters at 113th street and Green Bay avenue.

Many of those present were from the East Chicago plants of the Inland Steel company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. The men were told that the C. I. O. was "on the march" by Leo Krzycki and Nicholas Fontecchi, S. W. O. C. organizers.

Other agitators went among the strikers, convincing them that they were within their rights in invading the company's property and that high government officials were on their side. Inland and Youngstown men were placed at the head of the mob to march on the plant.

The strike leaders, who were bossing preparations for the march, said they were going to close the plant and force the workers inside to join the strike.

Chant "C. I. O.—C. I. O."

Chanting "C. I. O.—C. I. O." the inflamed mob began the march of three blocks to the plant's main entrance at 118th street and Burley avenue. A block and a half from the entrance, on a prairielike field 150 policemen were lined up under Capt. Mooney, Capt. Thomas Kilroy, and Lieut. Walter Healy. Capt. Kilroy stepped forward and advised them to come no further, as the police were under orders to protect the property.

"You can't get through here," he said, adding the warning, "We must do our duty."

Hoodlum jeers greeted his words, and volleys of bricks, stones, and bolts.

The police replied with tear gas. The rioters fell back for a moment, choking, and then, witnesses say, began firing at the bluecoats. The police fired warning shots skyward but, when the rioters continued to fire, used their own guns in earnest.

Men began dropping on both sides. The rioters fell back before the police bullets and swinging police clubs. Policeman Peter Cleary, 58, of the Chicago Lawn station, saw a comrade beaten to the ground by one hoodlum, armed with a metal rod. The mobster was disarming the prostrate policeman when Cleary went to the rescue, but his glasses were shattered in his eyes by a blow from the rioter's weapon.

Non-Worker Wounded.

Harry Harper, 3110 West 89th street, lost an eye during the battle. Victor Anderson, 44 years old, 9919 Ewing avenue, who is not a steel worker but had accompanied the mob out of curiosity, fell wounded by a bullet.

A boy of 11, Nicholas Leurich of 10934 Avenue N, fell with a bullet wound in his ankle. A boy of 9, who identified himself only as James, was shot in the leg.

Three women were knocked down.

The battle was watched from the plant windows by the loyal workers. Wives and sweethearts of many of them had called for a Sunday visit and had been permitted inside the gates just before the attack. They fled in terror.

Fifty yards from the battle, Mrs. Eva Phorte and her nine children watched the shooting from their home at 11635 Burley avenue. Mrs. Phorte's husband, Ernest, was in the plant working.

John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police, closed all roads leading to the plant late last night. Guards permitted only those with business in the district to pass.

Shortly afterward, the union pickets who have been patroling the plant since the strike began last Wednesday were withdrawn. There was no explanation.

The Illinois State Communist committee issued a handbill early today defending the stand of the C. I. O.

Fire on Food Planes.

Warren, O., May 30.—[Special.]—One loyal worker was reported shot at the Republic Steel company plant here today when strike pickets fired on company planes taking food to beleagured employés. Company officials said the planes were able to drop food to workers in plants in both Warren and Niles, O.

"Strike or Starve."

Youngstown, O., May 30.—[Special.]—The S. W. O. C. strike or starve strategy threatened to develop bloodshed in the steel walkout today. Pickets massed at Struthers, near here, to block an attempt to run a box car of food to loyal workers in a Republic company plant. Attempts will be made to avert rioting tomorrow at a conference between strike leaders and Mahoning county authorities. About 32,000 workers are idle in the Youngstown area.

Steel Official Shot.

Canton, O., May 30.—[Special.]—Carl W. Myers, district manager for the Republic Steel corporation, was shot and slightly wounded here today, but it was believed the shooting was accidental. He was fired upon by a guard at his home who said he mistook Myers for a prowler.

Coaches House Workers.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 30.—[Special.]—Republic Steel corporation officials announced tonight that a field kitchen and 25 Pullman cars have been shunted in on sidings to enable steel production to continue at the picket-surrounded plant here. Only 100 of 1,500 employés have struck, officials said.

DEMANDS OF OIL STRIKERS TURNED DOWN IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 30.—(AP)—Negotiations to settle Mexico's nation-wide oil strike collapsed today despite an assertion by President Lazaro Cardenas that it should end "without further delay today."

Employers withdrew from an arbitration conference, describing a new list of workers' demands as "absurd and impossible." The new demands stipulated:

A minimum daily wage of six pesos [about $1.68]; annual vacations of 30 days; a 40 hour work week with pay for 56 hours, and a pension scale ranging from 70 per cent of the salary after 25 years to 100 per cent after 30 years.

EX-WPA WORKER FOUND DEAD.

Olaf Lovendahl, 53 years old, 1452 North Kedzie avenue, a former WPA worker, was found dead yesterday in Humboldt park near North avenue and Whipple street.

MAYOR UPHOLDS POLICE 100% ON HANDLING OF RIOT

Can and Will Maintain Order, Says Allman.

Mayor Kelly condemned outside mobs last night when informed of the South Chicago riot at his summer home in Eagle River, Wis. He also stood 100 per cent behind his police force.

"I am confident," the mayor said, "that Commissioner Allman and his well disciplined department will be able to handle the situation. Regardless of their attitude toward labor, it is the duty of the police to protect life and property and they will fulfill that duty.

"From what I know of the situation," the mayor continued, "I feel sure that the riot was caused by outside mobs who came into Chicago for the purpose of making trouble. We can settle our own troubles if we are let alone."

Vows to Enforce Law.

Commissioner Allman said tersely, "the police are well able to maintain law and order in Chicago and they will maintain it."

Owing to the strong hand the police exercized during the wave of sitdown strikes, Chicago escaped the disorder and bloodshed that other large cities experienced. A tight rein was kept on the strikers and the disputes were settled in comparatively short order. Once the police had taken charge, no more sitdowns were permitted.

Declared Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed force:

"No individual or group, no matter who they are, are going to violate the law in Chicago!"

He emphasized the fact that before the rioting began the strikers were commanded to disperse by Supervising Captain James L. Mooney and other police officers, who urged them to cease their march upon the steel plant and go to their homes.

Purely Self-Defense.

"When they refused to do what Capt. Mooney asked them, nothing on earth could have prevented what happened," said Capt. Prendergast. "My men are positive that the first shots came from in the midst of the mob somewhere and that their actions after that were those of any men trying to defend themselves."

"There were 1,500 rioters armed with razors, pieces of iron pipe with couplings attached to them, poles with hooks on the end, and cans of pepper. Capt. Mooney had only 150 policemen at his back."

Capt. Mooney told reporters, "We don't need any militia; the police have this situation in hand. We'll preserve peace at this plant."

Lewis Union Wins Victory in Shoe Strike Election

Lewiston, Me., May 30.—(AP)—The first test by ballots of the relative strength here of the Committee for Industrial Organization and a local shoe workers' union gives the John L. Lewis faction a decisive victory. Lewis' United Shoe Workers of America defeated the Lewiston-Auburn Shoe Workers' Protective association in Wagner act elections in two of 19 Lewiston-Auburn factories involved in a strike now in its third month.

LONDON, May 30.—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh has left the exclusive Devonshire place clinic here with her third son, who was born on coronation day, May 12. Robert Worth Bingham, American ambassador to London, who was a patient at the same nursing home for one week, returned home today.

AFTER THE STRIKE

These rioters were lodged in the Gresham police station following the battle with police at the Republic Steel corporation plant in South Chicago.

HOLD SPECIAL MALONE TRIAL SESSION TODAY

Judge William H. Holly in federal court will hold a special court session today to speed the income tax trial of William H. Malone, former chairman of the state tax commission. The case is being heard by a jury.

Malone is accused by the government of evading payment of $59,574 in income taxes for 1929 and 1930. In his opening statement Assistant District Attorney Austin Hall charged Malone with receiving $330,000 from corporations to influence his conduct in office.

Hall said yesterday that one of the witnesses today will be William F. McCaughey, Park Ridge architect, who built Malone's Pickwick theater in Park Ridge. He will be called, Hall said, to support the government's contention that Malone concealed his income.

LABOR COUNCIL ORDERS WAR ON C. I. O. OF LEWIS

Green Gets Instructions for Campaign.

Cincinnati, O., May 30.—(AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor adjourned its week-long conference late today, instructing President William Green to launch a four point campaign against John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. The council will meet again in Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21.

A protest filed by the carpenters' international union against a dual position occupied by Charles P. Howard as president of the typographical union and secretary for the C. I. O., was placed on the agenda of the federation's national convention in Denver in October.

Green Departs for Home.

The typographical union is an A. F. of L. affiliate.

Green, who left immediately after the meeting for his home in Coshocton, O., said Howard, although a member of the federation's executive council, also was recognized as an officer of the rival organization.

"It does not set well with either the executive council or the membership of the international unions," he said, adding that steps would be taken "to acquaint Howard and the typographical union as to the contradictory position" he holds and the attitude of the federation's governing body.

Put Membership at 3,000,670.

A report submitted by Frank A. Morrison of Washington, D. C., secretary-treasurer, indicated a "paid and reported membership of the 103 national and international unions and local unions" May 29 of 3,000,670.

The figure, Morrison said, does not include membership of the ten national and international unions suspended Sept. 5, 1936, and represents a gain of 560,614 members for the nine months "over the average membership of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1936."

C. I. O. OPENS FIGHT

Washington, D. C., May 30.—(AP)—John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization answered the American Federation of Labor's new bid for supremacy in the labor field with announcement today of a membership drive intended to penetrate every unorganized industry.

As the federation shifted to the offensive, John Brophy, director of the C. I. O., said it soon would move into every industry which has no labor organization or where existing unions "are not taking care of their members."

The C. I. O., he added, does not intend to seek a foothold in such places as the building crafts or the highly organized railroad brotherhoods.

Brophy left C. I. O. headquarters here last night for the Pacific northwest where he said he would "invite" longshoremen and a woodcutters' federation to leave the A. F. of L. banner and join the Lewis forces.

As Green prepared to create a new department of maritime unions to combat the Lewis movement, Harry Bridges, west coast president of the International Longshoremen's association, predicted the 20,000 workers in his organization would quit the federation if it continued to oppose the C. I. O. and "progressive unionism."

Brophy smiled when he learned Green had ordered expulsion of Chicago and New York A. F. of L. unions affiliated with C. I. O.

MANEUVER OF C. I. O. DEPRIVES OCEAN SHIP OF ITS PASSENGERS

New York, May 30.—(AP)—Fifteen hours after they barricaded themselves in the wireless room of the liner Oriente, forcing cancellation of the ship's passenger trip, three American Federation of Labor radio operators walked off the vessel today and it sailed for Havana carrying only freight crew and three operators belonging to the Radio Telegraphists' association, a unit of John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

The men imprisoned themselves to prevent replacement by the C. I. O. operators as the rest of the crew demanded.

"We had nothing to eat. If we sailed with her, we would not have been able to leave the ship at Havana. Under those conditions we thought it best to come off," the three explained as they walked down the gangplank to cheers of rival pickets whose union is known as the Commercial Telegraphers' union.

After they departed, Mort Morow, secretary of the R. T. A., said, "a great moral victory was won for us. We won the strike and our three [C. I. O.] men are aboard. In addition we have the promise of the company to meet for negotiations next Tuesday."

EXPECT 2 MINUTE HEARINGS TO WIN PAROLES FOR 312

Board Members to Sit One Day on 563 Cases.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Illinois parole board hearings today and next Monday are expected to result in the release of 312 convicts on parole, it is revealed in the board's docket which was made public yesterday. Of these, 198 were sent to prison from Cook county.

Frank J. Loesch.

The 312 parole cases, plus 51 cases of convicts who are to be heard on other matters make a total of 563 cases on which the board members must pass. To handle them the seven man board forms three committees of two members each.

According to Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago], the average case is disposed of in two minutes—so that by putting in one strenuous day at committee hearings the members can do two months' work and can earn one-sixth of their $5,000 a year salaries.

Six to Be Freed Per District.

After these two minutes of investigation and deliberation, 312 convicts are to be turned loose—an average of six for each of the state's 51 legislative districts, it is pointed out by sponsors of the Frank J. Loesch plan for having trial judges [who often devote days to one case] fix the minimum and maximum terms of criminals whom they sentence.

It so happens, however, that Cook county's nineteen legislative districts will get an average of about 10½ parolees apiece—virtually four for each of the city's fifty wards.

Representative Schnackenberg, who is minority leader in the Illinois house, recently cited figures to show that, as a matter of fact, the parole board has granted very few paroles since the general assembly began considering legislation to modify the board's authority.

Many Cases Hanging Fire.

In his opinion this circumstance accounts for the fact that the dockets given out yesterday show 204 convicts on the outlists of the five state prisons. The names on the out list are those of criminals who have been approved tentatively for parole during the current month but whose paroles have been withheld because the persons to be freed have not been assured jobs upon their release.

In addition to these 204, the dockets show that by previous action the board virtually promised paroles during June to 76 convicts and during July to 32—312 in all. The other cases, which comprise the 563 to be handled as one day's work, are those of 191 persons who are to come before the board for the first time for a setting, and 60 parolees who have been returned to prison for violating the terms of their release.

Today's Deliberations.

Hearings are to be held today by two of the three committees of the board. At Joliet penitentiary one pair will consider 281 cases of convicts there and in Stateville penitentiary and in Dwight prison for women.

The second committee is to sit today at Pontiac reformatory, looking into the lives of 137 errant young men. Next Monday the third committee will hold a hearing for 145 convicts at Menard penitentiary. At some later date the entire board of seven members will assemble in Springfield and ratify the actions of its three committees.

23 KILLED ON GERMAN SHIP BY SPANISH BOMBS

Hitler Declares Nazis Will Avenge Attack.

where he was addressing a meeting on the religious campaign. These heads of the Nazi state conferred for five hours at the chancellery.

On Spanish Patrol Duty.

The government then issued a statement that said:

"Since a few days ago when Red [Valencia] airplanes attacked English, German, and Italian ships lying at Mallorca, German ships were forbidden to remain at that port. Saturday the German cruiser Deutschland was lying near Ibiza. It belonged to the forces working for the international naval patrol of Spain.

"Nevertheless, between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening, the ship was attacked by two airplanes from the Red Valencia government, swooping in order to throw bombs. Since the ship was not in action, the crew was unprotected in the messroom. One of the Red bombs dropped in the center of the room the same as a few days ago it hit the officers mess of an Italian ship. [Six were killed aboard the Italian warship Barletta.] A second bomb hit the side of the deck, doing only slight damage. The ship had not fired at the airplanes.

"Since the Valencia government was warned twice by the nonintervention committee and Germany not to renew attacks on ships engaged in the international control, this new criminal act compels Germany to take action of which she will apprise the nonintervention committee immediately."

Crowds Mill in Streets.

At 10:30 last night the German radio broadcast the names of the victims killed on the Deutschland while mourning and apprehension spread through the whole nation. News was withheld from the press until 9 p. m., then extra issues had black mourning borders.

"German dead are knocking at the door of the nonintervention committee in London," wrote the official Voelkischer Beobachter. It blames the "lethargy" of the committee for the death of German sailors. "The German nation is certain the government will reply to the provocation of the Red pirates with means fitting to these criminals. Expiation will be meted out for the dead of the Deutschland."

"We demand punishment" was also the cry of the Montag.

The German official news agency said, "The German government will know how to reply to this abominable provocation of Spanish criminals." What the action will be is carefully kept secret.

The Deutschland, first of three warships of the so-called Deutschland class which includes the Admiral Scheer and the Admiral Graf Spee, was launched May 19, 1931. She is 593 feet long at the water line and her normal complement is 926 men. Her armament includes six 11 inch guns, eight 5.9 inch, 14 anti-aircraft guns, ten machine guns and eight 21 inch torpedo tubes.

Fifty Planes Destroyed.

HENDAYE, France, May 30.—(AP)—Fifty Spanish government planes were destroyed today when rebel aviators bombed the Albericia airdrome near Santander, rebels announced.

Three government planes were reported shot down in a battle over Santander as the rebel craft roared down on the government stronghold west of Bilbao on the Bay of Biscay coast.

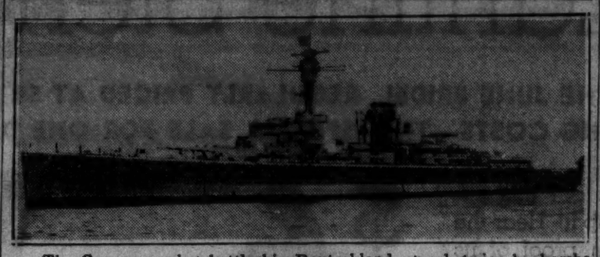
Dispatches from Bilbao said Basque authorities charged two German freighters disembarked war materials at Pasajes, just east of San Sebastian, on the Bay of Biscay. The landing apparently was effected while the border was closed.

Rebel Gen. Emilio Mola opened the 60th day of his offensive against Bilbao, Basque capital, with a heavy attack on Lemona, a strategic highway junction about ten miles southeast of the city.

Madrid Shelled, 50 Slain.

MADRID, May 30.—(AP)—At least 50 persons were killed and 70 wounded early today when rebel artillery loosed its guns on Madrid in one of the most severe bombardments of the siege of the capital.

Bombed by Spanish Loyalist Planes



The German pocket battleship Deutschland, struck twice by bombs from Spanish planes Saturday. Twenty-three aboard were killed. Spanish government dispatches said the bombs were dropped after the ship's guns had fired on the airplanes.

NORMAN THOMAS HITS HITLER AND DUCE AS SPANISH WAR BACKERS

PARIS, May 30.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, American socialist leader, declared today that Reichsfeuhrer Adolph Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini are waging war "with particular frightfulness" on the Spanish people "in a struggle which they themselves secretly fomented."

Thomas, three time socialist candidate for the presidency of the United States, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas, arrived in Paris after spending some time in Barcelona and Valencia on a visit to government held Spain.

He asserted the rebel air bombardment of Valencia Friday, which occurred while he and Mrs. Thomas were there, was "an act of war by German and Italian flyers under the direct control of their governments. Almost certainly their base of operations is the Island of Mallorca which now is in Italian hands," he said.

Cuban House Passes Bill to Free 6,000 Prisoners

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, May 30. — The most sweeping amnesty bill in the history of the republic was approved by the house of representatives today. The bill would pardon crimes committed up to May 20, 1937. If accepted by the senate, about 6,000 convicts and political offenders will go free.

Colleen Moore's Father Confirms She Is Married

C. R. Morrison, father of Colleen Moore, ex-movie star, in Wichita, Kas., last night confirmed the reports of the marriage of his daughter to Homer P. Hargrave Sr., La Salle street broker. The marriage took place in Crown Point, Ind., on May 19. He said he expected her to be in Kansas City about June 3. Hargrave, a widower, lives at 1935 Pratt boulevard. He has two children—Judy, 6 years old, and Homer Jr., 13. Judy recently accompanied Miss Moore on a tour of the country with her famous dollhouse.

Woman Slugged When She Resists a Purse Snatcher

An unidentified colored man knocked a middle aged woman to the sidewalk at Roosevelt road and Blue Island avenue last night when she resisted his attempts to steal her purse. The fall to the pavement resulted in a skull fracture. At the County hospital the woman, about 50 years old, mumbled her name as Mary Riordan.

BASQUES RETAIN FAITH IN CHURCH; BATTLE FRANCO

Mass Said in Trenches of Northern Front.

BILBAO, Spain [By Mail to New York], May 30.—(AP)—Foreigners today find it difficult to trace the religious issues of the Spanish civil war.

Rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco insists his war against the Spanish government is also a war for the church against the godless.

Government leaders do not deny that the Roman Catholic church, its priests and its property, suffered at the hands of government adherents at the start of the conflict. But the visitor to Bilboa, where the Basque régime fights fiercely and courageously on the side of the government, finds men and women wearing communist and anarchist uniforms—obviously stanch political supporters of the government—kneeling at mass every morning.

Pray at Red Meetings.

Often priests, after their duties within the church are completed, stand on church steps expounding Marxist doctrins. Anarchist and communist meetings are opened and closed with prayer.

Each day mass is celebrated on the battlefields by the Basque "gudaris" [militiamen]. Altars even are set up in the trenches and mass said under shell fire.

Few Basque leaders attempt to reconcile what seems to be a contradiction between political and religious beliefs in Vizcaya, the northern Spanish region besieged by Gen. Franco.

"We keep our religion and our politics apart," they say.

Basques are intense patriots. Even the air raid sirens in Bilbao are pitched to play the opening bars of "Guernikako" [after the oak tree of Guernica], the autonomous republic's national anthem.

Feel Superior to Others.

The Basques look down on the rest of the Iberian peninsula's inhabitants because they were in Spain before the other Spaniards and even have a language of their own.

They pay little attention to foreigners. The British are an exception. They are popular in the Basque country.

The action of British food ships in breaking through the rebel naval blockade along the northern coast has something to do with it.

BRITISH PAPERS FLAY COURT BAN ON USING NAMES

Insist Persons in Cases Be Identified.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 30.—London newspapers are complaining of another application of censorship to the British press in reporting court cases.

Sir Samuel Hoare.

The Sunday Express today demands an investigation of Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare into the ban clamped down by the chief magistrate of the Bow street police court, Sir Rollo Frederick Graham - Campbell, against publication in the press of addresses and occupations of persons tried in the court, unless this information is read in open court.

Had Access to Records.

No attempt ever had been made previously to censor such information, says the Express, pointing out that courts hitherto have given newspaper men access to the records which contain details regarding the occupations and addresses of persons accused.

Tightening up of regulations regarding publication of these details follows charges made in the house of commons and elsewhere recently that some sections of the press have been exploiting private grievances for the sake of sensationalism.

"Dangerous Innovation."

Magistrate Graham-Campbell's action is criticized in the Express, however, as a "dangerous innovation." The paper contends, first, that such censorship might conceivably be used to hide the real identity of some well known person, and second, that it might bring unjust suspicion and suffering upon some person with the same name as that of the defendant in court.

Protesting against the new attempt to impose secrecy on the press as being "abhorrent and perilous," the Express calls on the home secretary to start an immediate inquiry.

ROOSEVELT ON HOLIDAY VISIT TO HIS MOTHER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., May 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt basked in mellow sunlight at his ancestral home here today to begin a three day visit with his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt spent most of the afternoon with his mother on the porch of the rambling Dutch colonial family home. Mrs. Roosevelt is convalescing from a fracture of an ankle bone.

From time to time in surveying the Hudson river estate for the first time since his reëlection, Mr. Roosevelt glanced speculative at the neighboring estate of Krumwald. The murmuring pines and hemlocks to the south of the inner bend of Krum elbow, the Roosevelt estate, may witness a chapter in the love of Edward Windsor for Wallis Warfield [Simpson].

Krumwald is owned by Herman A. Rogers, host to the duke of Windsor and Mrs. Warfield at the Château de Cande in Monts, France, where they will marry Thursday. He is reported to have offered to open the Hudson valley home which has been closed almost continuously since the death of his father, the late Col. Archibald Rogers, a valley patrician, for an American honeymoon.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR CAUSE OF STREET BLAST

Deputy Fire Marshal Joseph A. Mackey said yesterday the investigation into the sewer explosions in Fullerton avenue Saturday will be continued today. An inquest into the death of A. C. Day, 5642 Melrose street, who was killed as a result of the explosion, will be held this morning at 2500 North Cicero avenue.

Chief George E. Graves of the Fire Prevention bureau is seeking to determine whether naphtha dumped into the sewer from some cleaning and dyeing establishment, or illuminating gas seeping in from leaks in the mains, caused the explosion. Manhole covers for a mile on Fullerton avenue from Western to Kedzie avenues were sent skyward. The one that killed Day came down through the roof of the Hollander warehouse at 2418 Milwaukee avenue, where he was employed.

Robber Loots Bedroom, but Bridge Game Goes On

While Capt. H. Wirt Butler of the Illinois National Guard and his wife were playing bridge with friends in their first floor apartment at 6848 Cornell avenue Saturday night a prowler entered the bedroom and took $6, a watch, and a box containing several of Capt. Butler's marksmanship medals.

CLAIM EX-KING IS DETERMINED ON USEFUL CAREER

Key to Abdication Crisis Told by Intimates.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTS, France, May 30.—Uncertain whether he or his bride-to-be, Mrs. Wallis Warfield, ever will be able to return to England, and uncertain also as to just what his relations with the British government will be, Edward, the duke of Windsor, definitely has made up his mind about one thing. He is determined to find—or create for himself—some kind of real job.

Duke of Windsor.

He has no intention, as his enemies hope, of leading the vapid, meaningless life of most former kings, drifting from one European watering place to another, THE TRIBUNE was authoritatively informed today.

Hopes to Utilize Experience.

Instead, after his marriage and a few months of peace alone with his bride, he intends to start leading an active, useful life in the American sense of the word, and one in which his knowledge and experience, accumulated in his career as prince of Wales and as king of Great Britain, will not be wasted.

This will come as a blow to the smug prophets in England and elsewhere who predicted that when he chose "personal happiness instead of duty" he was finished as a man as well as king and would end up a broken and forlorn figure.

This gloomy view is not shared by some friends of the duke and Mrs. Warfield. They think on the contrary that this, instead of sealing their doom, will be the beginning of a new and happier life for him and that he will now be free to achieve what all along has been his secret ambition—to win by his own efforts an outstanding position in the world.

This, these same friends say, is at once the key to his character and the key to the abdication drama. Edward, when he chose to give up the crown, did not think he was abandoning his duty to pursue personal happiness. Instead, the conflict with the reactionary forces in England over the marriage issue convinced him that the oligarchy which was ready to force him off the throne would force him in the same way to renounce every effort he might make to be something besides a stuffed shirt.

Secret of Their Romance.

Mrs. Warfield is one of the few people in the world who ever understood his deep passion to win a place as a man among men by his own abilities and the only person in the world who could give him any effective encouragement. That is the real secret of her hold over him and the real story of the abdication drama, these witnesses say.

If they are right this version throws a different light on the romance which will culminate in the wedding ceremony at the château next Thursday.

It is a good bet that whatever Edward decides to do he will be more or less in the public eye.

In view of his sincere and deep rooted interest in social problems—one of the causes of his downfall—and his great compassion for the poor, it is not unlikely that he may devote his energies to studying social conditions around the world.

Open Wedding Presents.

The duke has plenty of money now, and would rather do something which could be construed as public service.

If he ever should go to America and take a job, he will not go into the movies or on the stage, THE TRIBUNE is authorized to affirm categorically. He would not consider it dignified. Neither will he do any syndicate or magazine writing.

Mrs. Warfield and the duke spent a large part of today opening wedding presents. Among the gifts received was a table, which was not unpacked. Such large, cumbersome presents will be sent directly to Carinthia, Austria, and transferred to Wasserleonburg castle, where the honeymoon apparently will be spent.

Inmates of the couple's retreat, the Château de Cande, had lunch in the garden and the duke played tennis with Rogers despite the sultry heat.

MYSTERY SPEED SHIP IS FLOWN OVER AIR RACES

Army Keeps It in Clouds to Foil Photogs.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 30.—[Special.]—Maj. Alex de Seversky, manufacturer of the army air corps' new pursuit airplanes, today brought a mystery ship over the air races and international aerobatics exhibition here. The new plane, a gleaming all-metal ship with a 1,100 horse power twin row Wasp engine is so secret that the air corps refused him permission to land. They sought to prevent any photographs of it.

With the new plane Maj. Seversky flew here from his plant at Farmingdale, N. Y., in approximately four hours for an average cruising speed of just over 200 miles per hour.

Maj. Alex de Seversky and his wife.

Takes It to Scott Field.

He roared across the field just over the grand stands several times, inverted his plane for one final passage down the stands, and then flew to the Scott field, Belleville, Ill., air corps base.

He had hoped to attack the world's land plane speed record over a 1,000 kilometer course [625 miles]. This record is 324 miles per hour held by two Italian air corps flyers who recently made it in a twin engined light bomber. The course was laid out from St. Louis to Indianapolis, Ind., and return, and observers were placed at the turning pylon, but the army, at the last moment, again interfered.

350 Mile Top Speed.

The new plane with which Seversky had hoped to break this world's record is reported to have a top speed in the neighborhood of 350 miles per hour. Its cruising range, according to Maj. Seversky, is about 1,200 miles. The air corps refuses to allow any definite information about its performance to be made public.

A throng of 20,000 watched a dozen pilots in the aerobatics competition which will continue for one more day.

Aerobatics Semi-Finals.

The semi-finals in the International Aerobatics competition were won by Capt. Alex de Papana of Rumania with a score of 257 points. Four others who will be in the finals tomorrow and their point score as fixed by the judges today are:

Tex Rankin, of Los Angeles.....238 points
Paul Mantz, of Hollywood.....209 points

Capt. Len Povey of the Cuban air force and Lieut. Joe Mackey of Findlay, O., tied for fourth with 196 points. They will compete today for $5,500 in prize money.

Faces Manslaughter Trial Tomorrow in Fatal Crash

Harold J. Dale, 42 years old, chief engineer of the Buckingham building, is scheduled to go on trial on an auto manslaughter charge tomorrow in the Criminal court of Judge Peter H. Schwaba. Dale, who owns a summer resort near Round Lake, was indicted last October after a collision in Des Plaines that caused the death of William J. Adam, 84 years old, of Tampa, Fla. Dale was accused of being intoxicated at the time.

JEWS DISAPPEAR FROM EVERY DAY LIFE IN GERMANY

All Forced Into Ghetto, Boast of Nazis.

BERLIN, May 30.—(AP)—The Jew has virtually disappeared today from the main currents of German life. Official bans imposed by the Nazi régime have forced him into a cultural, social, political, and economical ghetto.

Leo Blech.

No point of the Nazis' 25 point program had been realized more completely than the calling for elimination of Jews from Germany's public life.

Minister of Propaganda Joseph Paul Goebbels can truthfully state that Jews have been barred from every phase of cultural life. No known Jews remain in any German theater, motion picture film, opera, concert hall, editorial office, literary or dramatic club, dance group or art exhibition.

This spring even Leo Blech, world famed conductor of the state opera, was forced to leave his post.

Cannot Play Beethoven.

Since May, 1933, the Jewish population of Germany has been segregated in a "kulturbund" to which Gentiles have no access. All programs presented by the Jewish culture groups must first receive the approval of Special Commissioner Hans Hinkel.

Commissioner Hinkel insists that the Jews refrain from including German poetry, compositions, or other material in their programs. Recently he announced he considered it an impertinence if a "kulturbund" asked permission to play Beethoven, or Mozart, or to read Goethe.

Found at Foreign Functions.

In Berlin's social life Jews are to be found only at functions in some of the foreign embassies and legations. At German functions of a more or less official nature Jews are conspicuous by their absence.

The sign "Jews not wanted here" is no longer necessary in most restaurants, cafés, and places of amusement. Four years of Nazi rule have taught the Jews not to enter places frequented by Nazis.

The same conditions are found at bathing resorts. The popular spas of the Baltic and North sea coasts will not accept Jews as guests.

'ADMITS KILLING WIFE, 8 CHILDREN IN HOME BLAST

Waukesha, Wis., May 30.—[Special.]—John Waszak, 51, Muskego farmer, late tonight signed a confession that he set off the blast on April 18 which killed his wife and eight children at their home. He said he intended at the time to die with his family, but lost his nerve and walked away.

Causes leading up to the tragedy were manifold, Waszak told Prosecutor Scott Lowry and Sherif Walter A. Listowitz. They had been married twenty-five years, the confession relates, during which Waszak charged his wife treated him "like a dog."

"She spent money without telling me where or why," the confession states. "There were too many children for me to support, as none of them would help me on the farm. In February she gave me two black eyes. I plotted the explosion then, but it was two months before I set it off."

One daughter, Phyllis, 23, escaped the blast. She is held in Milwaukee on a morals charge. Her suspicions, voiced at the inquest and repeated to Milwaukee officials, led to her father's arrest and confession.

QUIZ EX-CONVICT SEIZED WIELDING PISTOL IN SALOON

Joseph Holmes, alias Silver, 35 years old, 4936 North Artesian avenue, an ex-convict, was questioned yesterday by Morton Grove county highway police. Police overpowered him Saturday night while he made menacing gestures with a revolver in the Wagon Wheeel, a tavern at 6214 Montrose avenue. They said he became enraged when he lost money in the slot machines, and broke three of the machines, using the money to buy drinks for those in the place. Fearing a holdup when Holmes produced his revolver, attendants called police. Records show that Holmes was sentenced to Pontiac reformatory for larceny in 1925 and paroled in 1928.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

BUSINESS A-WING

By CALEB

4:30 P. M. A cosmopolitan crowd is assembling on the upper deck of the Pan American Airways station at Miami. In the warm sun, knots of people congregate, glancing frequently to the south.

Several languages are heard. An engine "revs" up with a roar, and a dozen heads turn toward the ship. A giant ship restlessly pushes at the blocks under its wheels.

Through the open doors to the bar room come raised voices. A round little woman, whose feet must surely never touch the bed when she retires, is ordering a fancy drink. Then a greater center of interest takes all attention from her. A voice has cried, "Here she comes."

And from the south is seen approaching like a soaring bird, a clipper ship. Surely this gray, graceful, growing wing in the distant sky is not seven tons of metal and human freight!

The wing grows larger. There is no ceremony—no circling of the field—no dramatics. Into the wind, the great gray bird settles. When it strikes the water we shall surely see its weight. Seven tons from sky to water!

But the argosy of the air skims over the bay as lightly as a gull. Scant space shows between ship and speeding shadow. And like a feather at last it lights, only a spray and frothy wake announcing its landing.

The pilot puts the ship about. It feels its way toward shore. A gangplank is being made ready. Attendants in white uniforms busy themselves ashore. An officer emerges from the great fuselage. A signal is shouted. A rope is attached from a rowboat. A winch starts singing. The great bird—engines silenced—draws near its dock.

Ship fast, the gangplank is fixed and twenty-six international passengers emerge. At once attendants swarm over the great ship—a dozen of them—following routines which help keep Pan American in the forefront of world air lines.

Among the passengers are two men who several days ago were at work in their great South American businesses. Day after tomorrow they will be inspecting our extensive manufactured lines in New York. Another leaf in the world's book of international amity and friendship is being written.

60,000 TO MARCH IN CITY'S TRIBUTE TO HEROES TODAY

Memorial Services Recall Sacrifices of Past.

Star mothers, whose sons fell on world war battlefields.

Various military units will march in the fourth division, and various nonveteran organizations in the fifth. Among these last will be the Chicago high school R. O. T. C., cadets and officers from St. John's Military academy in Delafield, Wis., the state infantry reserve, Boy Scouts of America, members of the American Red Cross and of the Polish National alliance. Last of all will come a detachment of Chicago firemen, commanded by Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan.

Honors for Confederates, Too.

The parade will start at 2 p. m., but earlier in the day, at 10:30 a. m., the heroic dead of the boys in gray, will be honored at a ceremonial in Oak Woods cemetery under auspices of the United Confederate Veterans, Sons of Confederate Veterans and United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Here a tall monument marks the graves of 6,000 Confederate soldiers and sailors who died while imprisoned at Camp Douglas.

Yesterday was reserved for ceremony—at cemetery, monument, and museum—where the valor of the soldier dead of all wars was translated into a message for the present. Solemn and grave, speakers exhorted to ponder the crises of today while they recalled the battles of the past lest America be hurled into another struggle.

Recalls Sacrifices of Past.

Maj. Ferre C. Watkins, speaking at Rosehill cemetery, which he termed the little Arlington of the middle west, reminded his hearers:

"Centuries of sacrifice, humanity in agony and fields dotted with silent upturned faces are the price paid for our liberties. One generation, greedy for temporary advantage or too soft to fight, may lose what centuries of suffering have won.

"The course for America to steer was charted a century and a half ago. It leads between the paths of Fascism and the shoals of communism. It is the path of representative democracy."

At St. Adalbert's cemetery Judge Joseph Burke, past commander of the James G. Russell-Blackhawk post of the American Legion, urged Americans to forego all isms except Americanism, to keep out of the wars of other nations, and to be sufficiently strong to command peace for our own people.

This thought was repeated at Acacia cemetery by Judge John C. Lewe, who termed the American Legion an inexhaustible reservoir of pure American patriotism and a strong port in the storms of today.

G. A. R. Veteran's Speech a Hit.

Among ceremonies of the day was that at the museum of the Chicago Historical society in Lincoln park, where representatives from many patriotic societies gathered to hear Senator James Hamilton Lewis speak. Senator Lewis' eloquence was rivaled, however, by the surprising address, short but fervent, of a doughty little G. A. R. veteran, Maj. Thomas Ambrose, 87 years old and still in active business, who spoke on "What Memorial Day Means to Us."

Between 9 and 9:30 this morning 500 uniformed firemen will assemble at Twenty-fourth and Lowe streets and march to All Saints' church, there members of the fire department who died in war and in line of duty will be honored at a mass. The mass will be said by the Rev. William Gorman, fire department chaplain.

At Hines Memorial hospital the Rev. William F. Owens of Maywood will conduct a military high mass for former service men at 9:30 a. m. before an altar erected on the lawn. Later 350 of the 1,750 veterans in the hospital will ride in the parade today. More than 2,000 friends of patients visited the hospital yesterday.

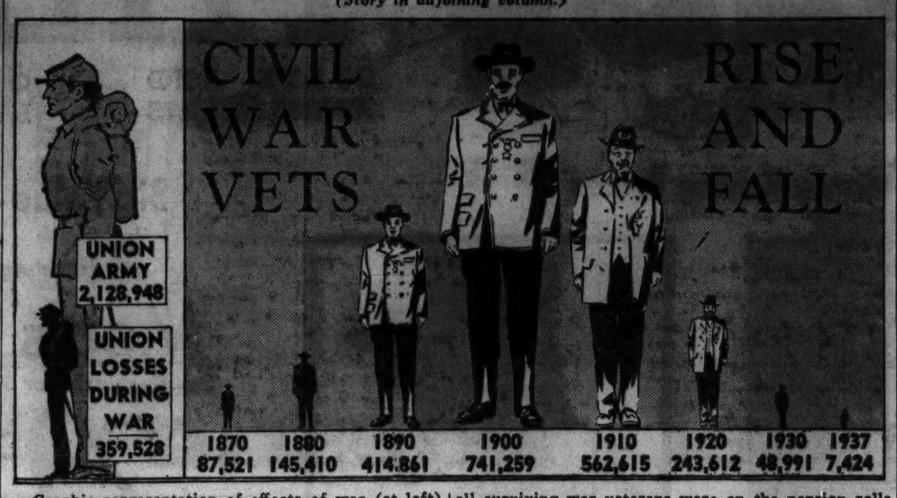
Five thousand persons are expected to attend memorial services to be conducted by the 33d division World war veterans at Rosehill cemetery today.

Reroute Michigan Avenue Trafic for Parade Today

There will be no parking on Michigan avenue from Chicago avenue to Roosevelt road today between 12:30 p. m. and 4:30 p. m., and on streets entering Michigan avenue from Wacker drive to Roosevelt road, because of the Memorial Day parade. Southbound trafic will be routed west at Chicago avenue and down Wabash avenue to 13th street. Northbound trafic will detour west at 13th street and north on Wabash avenue. Northbound trafic on Leif Ericson drive will be routed west on 22d street and north on Indiana avenue between 2 p. m. and 4:30 p. m.

Only 1 Per Cent of Civil War Vets of 1900 Remain

(Story in adjoining column.)



Graphic representation of effects of war (at left) and of the years (at right) upon the 2,128,948 men who joined the federal army during the war to preserve the union. The figures at the right show the number of pensioners in the years indicated. By 1900 all surviving war veterans were on the pension rolls and after that year the decline in the number of men receiving Uncle Sam's checks represents the rate of death. The present number of survivors is only about one-seventh of those living seven years ago.

SUMMERY HEAT LURES CHICAGO TO OPEN SPACES

A midsummerlike sun gave Chicago perfect weather yesterday, with the result that hundreds of thousands who did not leave the city for the 2½ day holiday, went outdoors to parks, forest preserves, and beaches. At 2:45 p. m. the official thermometer reading reached 89 degrees. Many of the beaches were pretty well populated with pre-season bathers. Virtually every boat owner on the lake was sailing it. Only one boating accident occurred. Gordon Young, 14 years old, 617 Sheridan road, and La Grange Worthington, also 14, of 213½ Ridge avenue, both of Evanston, were spilled out of their small boat off Evanston when they were rammed by the outboard motor boat of Stanley Jensen, 5949 Knox avenue. They were speedily rescued.

Dale Gustafson, 8 years old, 11206 Langley avenue, with several companions, saw his twin brother, Donald, drown last night after falling off a pier into Lake Calumet at Doty avenue and 110th street. A passerby recovered the body and a rescue squad strove in vain over it.

Highways were thronged in many parts of Chicagoland and at Belvidere state police reported a holiday trafic record on U. S. route 20. Few accidents were reported, despite a considerable rain which began after 7 o'clock in the evening. The showers are expected to continue until tomorrow, but not the unusual warmth, according to Forecaster J. R. Lloyd.

Every park in and near the city was packed yesterday. Entire families went picnicking. One of the most popular spots was the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield. Director Edward Bean announced that 37,283 took advantage of the free day. Today, too, is to be free.

City and park district officials indicated last night that unless the present warm weather develops into a real heat wave, the beaches probably will not be opened until the usual time.

C. I. O. PAVES WAY TO BOLSHEVISM, MOSCOW IS TOLD

W. Z. Foster Reports on Labor in U. S.

FOURTH—The present labor troubles in the United States soon will develop into even larger fights and the radicalization of the masses is gathering speed.

Put Pressure on Roosevelt.

Explaining efforts of the American Federation of Labor to prevent formation of a class labor organization in America, Foster informed Moscow that under the C. I. O, the labor movement is beginning to frame an extensive program. Through utilizing the pugnacious peace policies of Moscow and adopting a line of violent agitation against Fascism and Nazlism, the communist party in America now is masquerading as a progressive political organization and no opportunity, said Foster, is being lost to exercise pressure upon Mr. Roosevelt from the left.

At the same time, he continued, the Reds are busy organizing a left wing of the Democratic party to bring about a split with the conservatives. This division, Foster maintains, will help toward the formation of the Farmer-Labor party ordered by M. Dimitrov, general secretary of the communist internationale, at the last Moscow congress.

Expects War on C. I. O.

Lewis, according to Foster, attained a strong position in the American labor movement through successful attempts to organize workers in the strategic steel, automobile and electric industries. He further said it would be naive to believe that employers are not going to attempt to destroy the C. I. O. by force.

Three obstacles preventing such an attempt immediately, he said, are "the carefully cultivated fighting spirit of the workers, the improving economic situation and the employers' lack of support from President Roosevelt.

The tolerant attitude of the Roosevelt administration enabled the C. I. O., within a year to become an organization with fifteen unions and approximately 2,000,000 members, continued Foster. He reported that although Lewis formerly was very conservative, he saw the necessity of organizing labor upon a new principle.

The communist party has taken an active part in this campaign, operating with the C. I. O., especially in its campaign in the steel industries.

Foster continued. The communist party further is concentrating its efforts to spread dissension within the ranks of the American Federation of Labor, intriguing against William Green and other leaders who oppose Lewis. The communists are advocating the overthrow of the present rulers of the A. F. of L. and the joining of the A. F. of L. with the C. I. O., the writer asserted.

The C. I. O. already is much stronger than the A. F. of L., in Foster's opinion, and the communist party is advancing the idea of holding a carefully prepared all American labor congress, through which it hopes to oust the conservative leaders of the A. F. of L.

Foster concluded the report by reiterating that the communist party is not only supporting the C. I. O. and helping develop it into a popular front political party, but that it also has not forgotten Moscow's orders to extend its influence among workers toward developing a spirit of class warfare which must eventually make America a proletarian state.

SHIPPING CLERK PILOT CRASHES HIS PLANE; SLIGHTLY INJURED

With hundreds of airport spectators looking on Oscar J. Waldvogel, 25 years old, 2949 North Albany avenue, an amateur pilot, crashed from a height of 600 feet last evening near the Stinson air field in McCook. Although his plane was broken up, he escaped with cuts on his face.

Waldvogel, a shipping clerk who has 90 hours of flying to his credit under a student flyer license, went up in his plane—an OX Waco two seater—shortly after 6 o'clock. As he circled the field for a landing after a short cruise, his motor went dead.

Questioned by Sergt. Frank Veselka of the Willow Springs county highway police, Waldvogel could produce only a student license which expired last February. He said his extension papers were at home. Sergt. Veselka ordered him held for bureau of commerce air authorities.

HONOR U. S. WAR DEAD AT GRAVES ON BATTLEFIELDS

Bullitt and Pershing Speak at Rites in France.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 30.—Memorial day was celebrated in Paris and elsewhere in France with various inspiring and impressive ceremonies. Ambassador William C. Bullitt laid a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at noon. This ceremony was by far the most interesting and significant due to its background of international implications which stuck out all over the place.

France, who feels herself in double jeopardy of war with her Fascist neighbors and of civil strife within, gave heed to the march of the Star Spangled Banner up the Champs Elysees with the wistful hope that the flag again can be relied on when the time comes.

Republican Guards Lead.

The parade was led by a platoon of mounted Republican Guards in glittering apparel and on splendid horses, followed by a picked infantry band and a bugle and drum corps. There was a smart detachment of aviation officers armed with curious dirks. Then there was the American Legion color guard in shining trench helmets.

They were followed by the lone figure of Ambassador Bullitt. He was closely followed by his military and naval attachés. High French officers and war veterans, delegations from American schools and the American colony also participated.

French War Chief Talks.

At American military cemeteries exercises were particularly impressive with strong French participation. At Suresnes, just outside Paris, Minister of War Edouard Daladier spoke feelingly of the A. E. F.'s participation in the world war and Bullitt referred to the fallen soldiers as "defeated in victory."

"Those who survived did not win the peace for which they fought," he said.

At the American cemetery at Romagne-sous-Montfaucon [in the Meuse-Argonne sector], where 14,255 American soldiers are buried, Gen. John J. Pershing, commander of the A. E. F., spoke. He expressed the hope that the "frightfulness of modern war may serve to convince leaders that there is a better way."

SCULPTOR BEATEN AND ROBBED.

James McGovern, 52 years old, 6147 Ellis avenue, a sculptor, was beaten and robbed of $4.50 early yesterday by a colored man in front of 2629 Calumet avenue.

Trailer Is Given Status of Castle by N. Y. Law

Albany, May 30.—[Special]—Breaking into a trailer is as great a crime in New York state as breaking into a building, under a bill signed today by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. Under the measure trailers are included in the definition of a building, unlawful entry of which constitutes burglary.

THE LAW DEFENDED.

The conduct of the police of Chicago in maintaining order in the vicinity of the South Chicago steel mills has earned the respect of the community. The department has not taken sides in the struggle. It has sought only to preserve life and property, the business with which it is intrusted by the community. The police assigned to the mill district have scrupulously avoided giving provocation, but they have not hesitated to use force as a last resort. Had they done otherwise they would have been faithless to their trust.

The incidents on Friday near the plant of the Republic Steel corporation indicate how thoroughly the police understood their neutral rôle. Provocative speeches at a massmeeting were followed by a parade of strikers and strike sympathizers toward the Republic plant. The parade in itself was illegal and it was obvious that, inflamed as the marchers were, anything might happen if they were allowed to reach their objective.

A squad of ten policemen was encountered a block and a half from the mill. They retreated slowly until they reached a point where they could not be outflanked and then stood their ground. Reinforcements arrived promptly. The paraders insisted on going ahead. The police were in duty bound to prevent the kind of violence which goes by the name of mass picketing. The mob surged against the police line but it held firm and gave as much as was received. In the end the mob abandoned the struggle.

That was good police work. It should be followed by proceedings against the orators who inflamed the crowd and led it to acts of violence. They have every right to organize a union and to call a strike, but no right to intimidate any one into joining their movement, and no right to provoke mob violence.

The fact that the C. I. O. leaders think they are above the law is easily explained. When John Lewis gave his half million dollar contribution to the Democratic campaign fund he expected a quid pro quo. From the national administration he has been receiving it. He and his associates have come to believe that, having paid their money, they need no longer respect the rights of any one, whether employer, worker, bystander, or property owner.

The administration at Washington has given full support to this rewriting of the law. Many state and local governments have gone along. Chicagoans can take pride in the fact that in this jurisdiction the law is not for sale, the rights of citizens are safeguarded and the police recognize that their primary duty is to preserve the peace.

FIVE LITTLE GOLD MINES.

The five young Dionnes of Callander, Ont., having rounded their third marker, are started into the fourth years of their remarkable lives together. They are already rich in their own right. They are wards of state but they could buy up some of the chief officers of state. They are also the greatest single regional asset which ever was developed around Lake Nipissing.

At the celebration of the third anniversary of the five little girls the announcement was made that for the coming tourist season the visiting periods, two a day, will be extended from a half hour to an hour each. The arrangements for the tourists allow the spectators to see them and keep the children from seeing the rubbernecks. Curiosity draws travelers by the thousands from every state in the union, from all parts of Canada, and from many parts of Europe.

Last year, as the estimate is now recalled, some two million dollars, mostly American currency, went into the banks of North Bay, twelve miles north of Callander, on Lake Nipissing, as the result of the continuous stream of travel coming in from all regions. This has made North Bay one of the most prosperous shopping towns in all Canada. Every hotel is crowded and any one who wants to take overnight paying guests can fill his rooms.

If oil had been struck in Callander or North Bay the profits hardly could be larger than those derived from the fact that the quintuplets were born in the region. They have, it might be said, made copper, cobalt, nickel, gold, and other metal industries of secondary importance, although the Sudbury copper production, because of the gold content, can prosper when depression prices close our own mines down.

Incidentally, the five little girls have been a great help to agriculture, because the tourists want to carry away mementoes and they prefer to take stones. The guardians of the children, at the suggestion of Dr. Dafoe, have made this souvenir collecting easy by hauling in loads of stones from adjoining regions, and it is a fair guess that most of the farms in the vicinity have been entirely cleared of them.

Not only do the stores, hotels, boarding houses, and restaurants prosper but plowing is a lot easier.

CROWNING AN EX-KING WITH INSULT.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin's final act as he closed the door behind him on his public life was another fling at the American marriage. Malice and vindictiveness seemed to be proved in the determination of the retiring prime minister to send the parting shot at the couple in Monts.

Mr. Baldwin with the prelates behind him compelled George VI. to publish in the London Gazette the terms of a royal patent declaring that the duke of Windsor, notwithstanding his abdication, is entitled to hold and enjoy, but only for himself, "the title, style or attribute of royal highness."

Then came the sting, "so, however, that his wife and descendants, if any, shall not hold the said title, style or attribute." Edward must have been hateful to this sour old man and the prelates behind him. Baldwin, when he was professing himself the grieving friend as well as minister of a king in a great dilemma, said that if that king married his wife must become his queen. The law of England permitted no alternative.

The king made his choice and in doing so he made no difficulties for the government or the empire. He obliterated himself. Winston Churchill says that from the moment Edward came to his decision he never made an error in judgment or act or word. Churchill does not say it, but the government made every blunder which meanness of spirit could inspire, and the final one was to declare that while Edward, if he had put the empire to the test of his marriage while he was king must have a queen, nevertheless as duke of Windsor he cannot have a wife of his own title and style.

Baldwin and his associates, lay and clerical, say in effect the marriage of a king is at the disposal of the cabinet and that any love affair of his must be illegitimate. They have forced the royal family to accept and execute their judgment. The duke's sister and brothers, possibly even his mother, are compelled to suppress any natural feelings and sentiments they might have. The conspirators with their false moralities have intruded into the royal household, not on an affair of state but on an affair of human relations.

Whatever damage Edward may have done to the royal institution they have increased a hundred fold. They have demonstrated that the members of the royal families are puppets, not able to indulge themselves in the decencies of normal life. How can medievalism survive such a shock and such an exposure?

ON THE BUTTON.

The uniform of some of the telegraph messengers has been improved recently with a six inch button, worn on the chest, and reading something like this: "Ask Me About the New Rates."

The idea is admirable. It can be the fate of any one, any day, to find himself in the company of a telegraph messenger for a protracted period. The two of you might be in an elevator stuck between floors. You might be waiting at the box office for the ticket seller to return from his spring vacation. You might be cast up together on a desert isle. In such circumstances the amiable thing to do is to converse. It is the duty of the older person to speak first, but it is not always easy to find a suitable opening. It was thoughtful of the company, then, to foresee just such a contingency and to provide just the right beginning.

The conversation can be kept on an impersonal plane as long as may be desired. The discussion can turn at first on rival theories of rate making, the influence of competition on rates, the desirability of government regulation. While these aspects are being examined each participant will have ample opportunity to perceive the quality of the other's mind. When the minds are no longer strangers the talk can be diverted readily to other matters. If you want to talk about the coronation you need only ask if the new rates are applicable to London cables. The transition has been made effortlessly.

The idea of the conversational button is so good that it ought to be extended. Almost everybody at some time in his life has been seated beside a person who looked intelligent and attractive, but rose to no conversational opener. The world is full of such people. Their best friends ought to tell them about it, but seldom do. Such people could provide themselves with six inch buttons saying, "Ask Me About Egypt" or "Lead Up to the Short Ballot."

The perils of social life would almost disappear if this scheme were generally adopted. In the long run it might result in an evening without bridge.

Editorial of the Day

CITY MANAGER POLITICS.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Week after week Cincinnati's councilmen have toyed with the question of choosing a city manager. But they do not come to grips with the real question, which is agreeing on one. The record of the present council is depressing. But the worst case of irresponsibility and failure to serve the people is its present unwillingness to select a manager.

The delay and bickering are entirely unnecessary. The committee of council has the names of several excellent candidates. Concretely, and not because he stands alone, Mr. Russell Forbes is ideally fitted for the post. He has a wealth of municipal experience, and has made a notable record as purchasing agent of New York City. He has a nonpartisan record. Neither Republicans nor Democrats can quarrel with him on that score. He is an attractive person with the qualities of leadership needed.

Cincinnati not only has a job to be filled, but a nation-wide reputation to maintain. We can insure good government by choosing a local man, such as Mr. John Ellis. But the Republican opposition to that proposal seems to eliminate him, and likewise illustrates the extreme difficulty of agreement on any Cincinnatian. But if we are to keep up the prestige of Cincinnati at the top of American cities we must choose the ablest man available in the country—one who has made a life profession of municipal administration.

A railroad would not hire a social worker as its general manager. A community chest would not pick out a public utility executive to direct its work. A city should choose none of these, but rather a man trained in municipal administration, and nobody else.

These are obvious facts. Every member of the council is familiar with them. The only difficulty is to persuade them to submerge their petty differences in a prompt decision to carry out their public responsibility.

BETTER TECHNIQUE.

He had just stolen a hurried kiss.

"Don't you know any better than that?" she demanded indignantly.

"Sure," he replied, "but they take more time."—Washington Star.

FOR DECORATION DAY.

When, Lord, you rend the temple veil, sevenfold,
To call me from the earth where I have lain;
When, last words spoken and the vigil told,
I rise as vapor from a sun kissed plain;
Caught in the lilt of heavenly ecstasy,
My heart so strangely stilled, again would beat,
Again would thrill to yearly reverent feet,
And hands flower-flowing, bringing unto me
The brightness of familiar joys—the glow
Of many little singing paths I know.

Dear Lord, grant me one prayer. When I have died
Let me slip back along the loved earth way . . .
O draw the veil, sevenfold, dear Lord, aside
For me on every Decoration day.

THOUGHTS ON MORNINGS AFTER.

Sir: You and your boiled owl! Did you ever try eating one? I did, once, when I was a boy. It tasted like your mouth does the morning after you lap up a coupla pints of chewing-tobacco-colored whisky that our favorite fisherman used to distill in a five gallon can out here along Rock river. That other next day simile concerning the fiddler's dog I'll give up on, unless you mean Old Dan's dog. Always, before he started playing Turkey in the Straw, Dan let the pooch lap up a sauce dish of Si's home blend—claimed his fiddling was too much for the pooch's natural nerves. . . . Dan is the same character who made a journey to Wisconsin and on returning answered all questions about land, weather, crops, fishing, etc., adequately. But when a quizzer asked, "How was the water, Dan?" he came back with: "I forgot to ask anybody." K. Ditto.

THE DISCUSSION provokes the memory of Jim Flood's description of his feelings after a moonshiny night. "My mouth tastes," said he, "like I was a fertilizer salesman who ate his own samples."

PRAY, CONTINUE THE HONEYMOON.

May El Chiquito's much better half speak? The jars I save are not all of glass. The sight of you—or rather of The Tribune that conceals you while you read the Line is too chummy. Take heed, the next time you hand me the want ads I'll hurl my grapefruit right through this space.

In other times, in eras daft, they burned folks at the stake, for practicing the witches' craft; no foolin' and no fake. Black magic was a common art, and spells were cast galore. Folks then were not so very smart—they bit and asked for more. However, in these modern days we are enlightened, wise. Such nonsense doth our souls amaze; we laugh at those old guys. Of scientific turn are we, with sane and normal view. We go in for astrology and such like whooperoo. HUMAN NATURE NOTE.

MY JOB at spring cleaning time is to swab the porch, but a robin built her nest there a few weeks ago and I hate to disturb her brood. It is interesting to watch the robin get a worm and make hamburger to feed her offspring, who spend most of their time preening themselves . . . I hope the mother bird will start hatching again soon, which will give me a good excuse for not cleaning the porch at all this spring. J. E. S.

A CLEAN MOUTH FOR HEALTH.

HOW any one can expect to have good health with a filthy mouth is beyond understanding. Every article of food that is swallowed comes into contact with the teeth, the lips, the tongue, and the mucous membrane of the oral cavity in the course of mastication. If dead, decaying teeth are harboring infection, pus is squeezed out in the process of chewing and is thus mixed with food.

One wonders how many instances of indigestion, intestinal upsets, and even appendicitis, arise because huge quantities of bacteria are dumped into the alimentary canal. Even though the secretions from the stomach and the principal digestive glands are bactericidal [microbe killing] in part, nevertheless some will escape. These survivors then are in a position to multiply and enjoy a happy sort of existence in the colon. As most of us know, the large bowel [the colon] has few if any defenses; that is, there are present but few factors which are destructive to active, growing bacilli. This means then that they are likely to remain in this favorable environment for long periods of time.

Then there is the tongue. Its complexion indicates pretty clearly what is going on within the digestive tract. Furthermore—in and of itself—it may constitute a cesspool of infection. Microbes can lodge in the crevices, mix with food, grow, and produce toxins, with resulting irritation. If one will look at the thick coating of grayish fur after an "owlish" night and an encounter with the "long cold bottle and the small hot bird" we may have some conception of the mass of putrid cell débris that is thrown into the stomach. Most of us have learned how to brush the teeth, but few of us clean the tongue or pay much attention to it.

Abscesses in the tonsil crypts that are filled with foul, decomposing, cheesylike material may pour their discharges into the throat.

But another source of contamination must not be overlooked. Teeth which have once been infected constitute potential danger spots. A few years ago, when a gumboil or abscess formed about a tooth, it was frequently opened and drained. Sometimes the root canal was incised so that pus could escape. In such circumstances swelling and tenderness often disappeared, and we were lulled into a false sense of security under the assumption that the trouble was over.

We have now learned that such a procedure meant that we were harboring within the body a bacterial industry which was manufacturing great quantities of poison. These abscesses cannot be drained adequately in this manner, and unless an extensive surgical operation is carried out the tooth should be removed. Far better get along without it—no matter how necessary—than to retain a busy place in which bacteria abound.

But some one will ask, "Do mouth infections really cause much trouble?" Here is a case in point. Only a few weeks ago a man, aged 43, consulted an eye specialist for blurring vision. A blind spot had developed in one eye. The ophthalmologist in question suspected a focus of infection and suggested that the mouth be examined and the teeth X-rayed. An abscessed tooth was found and within a few days after extraction vision improved decidedly. Two weeks thereafter the eye was perfectly normal. Acute iritis is another eye condition which is traced frequently to root abscesses.

Few of us realize the lengths to which the body will go in an effort to throw off infection. Regardless of the strength of one's constitution the function may be successful for a time, but after a while the body defenses will be worn down and some obvious disease disclose itself. When all is said and done a considerable number of afflictions are traceable to foul mouths.

ICE CREAM PAINS.

Y. E. S. writes:

1. When I consume ice cream or ice cold drinks I get pains in one side of the temple.
2. Are ices unhealthful to eat?
3. If rubber pads are placed between overlapping toes, will this make them perspire less?
4. Will washing the face with water to which epsom salts has been added clear the complexion?
5. Are chicken feather pillows unhealthful to sleep on?

REPLY.

1. This is a reflex pain which is felt by most persons when ice cold substances enter the stomach. The distress is most acute, as a rule, on the forehead between the eyes.
2. Not if dissolved in the mouth before swallowing.
3. Probably little difference.
4. No.
5. Not unless you are allergic [sensitive] to feathers.

FALLING STOMACH.

M. H. writes: I have a fallen stomach, caused by losing weight, I am told. I was fitted with a surgical belt and wear it faithfully. How long will it be before I can discard this belt? I have heard that some people have worn them for 25 years.

REPLY.

The most effective remedial measures for a dropped stomach are exercise and massage. A light girdle which fits snugly about the hips and lower abdomen is generally satisfactory if it is adjusted while the patient is lying down. Most stomachs have the power to function regardless of position. The emptying time may be a bit slower, but what of it? There is likely to be much senseless apprehension about a stomach that is somewhat lower than normal. Gain weight via the rest and good food route.

TINCTURE OF IODINE.

J. H. M. writes: What benefits if any are derived from taking a few drops of tincture of iodine in water? Is the practice dangerous?

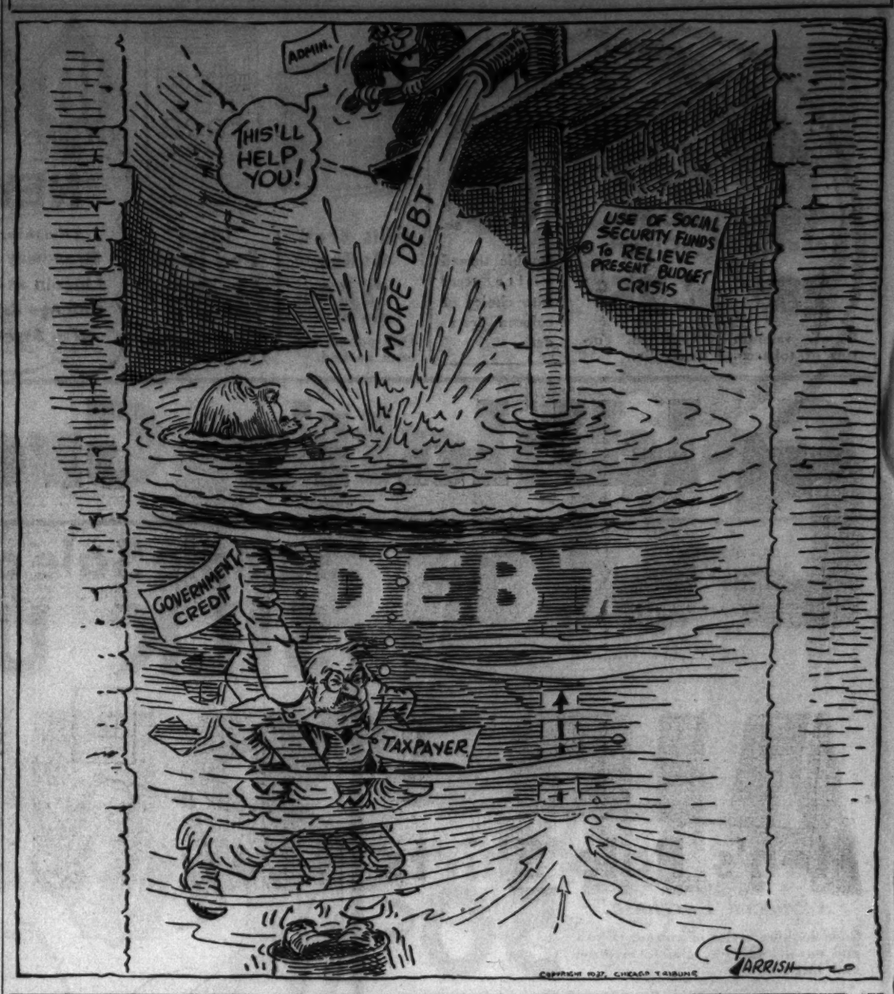
REPLY.

Unless iodine is prescribed by a physician for a definite purpose there is probably no benefit. Furthermore, the danger of overdosage is very real. Iodine is stored in various tissues of the body and they may become overloaded.

FIRST AID.

We have a small booklet on first aid procedures which will be sent on receipt of 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope. Many helpful hints for those who have "enjoyed" a three-day holiday in the country are given.

PUMPING IT RIGHT BACK IN!



From Across the Sea

BY HAROLD TATAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, May 24.—In counseling his countrymen to give close consideration to the proposals of those who, declaring universal suffrage to be a failure, ask for a drastic restriction of the right to vote, President Agustin P. Justo inserted in his "swan song" message to congress a passage which left many hearers gasping.

Coming as it did on the heels of a pæan of praise of democracy in which, he said, he was, as ever, a firm believer, and a few remarks which could only be interpreted as unkind by Fascist-minded persons of the nation, the president's counsel caused considerable perplexity.

The passage has been severely handled by the press, which reminds the president that he himself was elected under the system which he now considers to be of questionable merit. Some critics deplore the statement as likely to give an impression abroad that Argentina is on the verge of joining the ranks of the dictator-ridden nations.

The motives that may have impelled President Justo to voice a sentiment entirely discordant to all that he has stood for to date, and directly counter to the spirit of the eulogy of democracy he delivered a few minutes previously, are being widely canvassed by Argentines generally, but so far no satisfactory explanation has been advanced.

It is noteworthy that the president's remarks have coincided with the efforts of the governor of the province of Buenos Aires, Dr. Manuel Fresco, to bring about a repeal of the Saenz Pena secret voting law which he declares to be an abomination and an incentive to bolshevism and anarchy.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

TO DISCOVER WILL.

Chicago, May 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My aunt died during July, leaving a considerable estate. She was a widow and has no children. I have a cousin who seems to be handling her affairs.

1. Several times I have asked him if there was a will. The answers have been evasive. There has been no division of my aunt's estate, and [2] no report to the Probate court.
3. Is there a legal society to whom I can turn for help? A. J.

1. We suggest that you write to the clerk of the Probate court at the county seat in the county in which she resided at the time of her death and ask him if there was a will. If there was you could obtain a copy by paying him.
2. Ordinarily no report is filed until a year after the commencement of the probate proceedings.
3. It is not clear that you need such help. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

REPAIRS ORDERED.

Chicago, May 26.—[Friend of the People.]—I should like to call your attention to the building on the northeast corner of our street. This place is in a deplorable condition and a danger in the neighborhood. Half the cornice fell down last fall and the other half might come down any minute, killing some one. We are in constant fear a child playing there or a passerby may be killed. S. B.

Upon investigation of this complaint our inspector reports this is a three story frame building which is partially occupied. The building is in need of repairs, but is structurally safe. The agent has been notified to make all necessary repairs and to keep said building continuously in a good and safe condition. This department will proceed according to law in the event repairs are not made. RICHARD E. SCHMIDT, Commissioner of Buildings.

TRAFIC SIGNALS.

Chicago, May 26.—[Friend of the People.]—We would appreciate anything you can do in obtaining stop and go lights for 76th street and South Park. During heavy rush hour trafic one's chances of crossing are very slight, as motor trafic does not stop back of the white markings to allow the pedestrian right of way, but continues up to the curbing. G. L.

We have just recently completed a trafic count and survey of the intersection which discloses that the present trafic volume warrants the installation of "stop and go" signals. Consequently, we are placing the intersection on our program of signal installation. JOSEPH J. BUTLER, Assistant Commissioner of Streets and Electricity.

A REPLY FROM LIDDELL HART.

LONDON, May 10.—Mr. Miles' letter [published in the Voice of the People on April 25] is correct as far as it goes—but it does not go nearly far enough. It overlooks the fact that the Maanières sector was only part of the front broken through on Nov. 20, 1917, and that there was no canal to block the way in the center and left. It also overlooks the fact that the British had no less than five cavalry divisions available, either under the army command or under G. H. Q. Even on the Masnières sector the German records show that the cavalry who did get across the canal were checked by what was only a handful of men with a few machine guns hurriedly brought up from a recruit depot.

Contrary to his statement that the bridge was closed by the time the pontoons arrived the German Official Monograph emphasized the fact that a wide gap remained open for "many hours, completely unoccupied, between Masnières and Crève Cœur." Any sound historical judgment depends on knowing the enemy's side of the situation.

B. H. LIDDELL HART.

PROTEST AND INVITATION.

Chicago, May 25.—The article in The Tribune of May 24 relative to my attitude when stopped by police officers on Skokie highway last Sunday is wholly inaccurate and unfair.

There was no discourtesy or threat used on the officer. Every motorist knows the futility of such procedure. My only objection was to the high-handed methods employed by your reporters.

I cannot agree with you that subjecting a motorist to be pulled to the side of the road and "mugged" for an offense that was debatable [but not protested] is educational. I am wholly in favor of any campaign that may in any small way reduce our automobile death toll. To picture an automobile in the act of performing a violation may have educational value, but to turn two irresponsible reporters loose with a camera, a notebook and pencil to humiliate motorists like criminals and then refuse their credentials is rather unfair. My protest against these tactics and my inability to understand your cameraman's dialect apparently made me the victim of the reporters' ire, resulting in the distorted story. However, all this is beside the point.

If the person or persons who have sent me threats in the past few days have enough guts to forward their names and addresses I will be very happy to afford them the opportunity of putting their cowardly threats into effect. So, beware, you poor motorists who have to submit to "mugging"; you will find your mail box full of all kinds of threats the following day. CHARLES MCPARLAND.

THERE HAVE BEEN MANSLAUGHTER CONVICTIONS.

Chicago, May 19.—If I killed some one by driving an auto carelessly I would consider myself guilty of murder. The law against murder is very plain. The penalty is specified. The application of the law against murder to a few drivers would perhaps be effective in reducing the wholesale slaughter. LEO BROWN.

OF CROWNS AND KINGDOMS.

Chicago, May 27.—A perusal of this morning's Tribune reveals the customary type of ten cent store editorial on the British and their choice of king. Since that is their own business, it is difficult to understand why your paper should persistently flaunt before its readers the type of silly piffle on the subject that has appeared in your columns, on editorial pages and in cartoons.

As Americans we have enough problems of our own without being insulting to the British dominions and their central government, whose good will we desire whether your paper does or not. If the British people permit men holding responsible positions in state and church to decide that the time has come when the empire will no longer tolerate a showman as king, that is their business. As long as The Tribune and the American people permit self-appointed guardians of the Nash, Farley, and Michelson stripe to decide what is good for us, we can hardly afford to throw stones at others who choose their own method of procedure. Possibly the writers for The Tribune are not aware that last fall the British determined that their form of government was the essential thing and that the king must fit the crown, while the people in the United States decided that their own government was a secondary matter, as far as form is concerned, so they voted for four more years of showmanship with a dictatorship in the offing.

Your references to the coronation as the big show were an insult to your readers. Any one familiar with the demonstrations staged in our big cities during the last campaign by the Democrats to sell the administration for another four years should hesitate to ridicule others for choosing their own way of saving their empire.

The American newspapers have lost the confidence of the people and it is high time that those responsible for the press wake up to that fact. It is difficult to imagine anything more dangerous to a nation than loss of confidence in its press. If you think devoting columns to a love affair daily for weeks is going to reëstablish confidence you have another guess coming; it may sell more papers, since the reading is interesting and does not require any particular brains to appreciate, but one hardly looks for enlightenment in sources of entertainment. D. A. PODOLL.

HELPFUL PUBLICITY.

Chicago, May 25.—The writer drives to his place of business every morning, and I want to say that right after you have advertised careless driving, as well as driving etiquette, I can see a difference in the driving.

As a citizen I want to thank you for your efforts toward that end. GLENN E. HOLMES.

TREES DESTROYED.

Chicago, May 25.—Every tree on both sides of South Park avenue between 60th and 61st streets has been chopped down and, as I understand it, this will be done up to 67th street. An offensive army marching through could not have done a better job! GODFREY M. COHN.

BABY IS AMONG THREE KILLED IN AUTO COLLISIONS

Four Other Chicagoans Lose Lives Out of Town.

Three persons were killed and twenty others injured in or near Chicago yesterday in holiday trafic accidents. Four Chicagoans lost their lives out of town. One fatality was reported in Lake county.

One of the victims was an infant, Richard Kasprzycki, 4 months old, 2808 West 24th street. He was jolted from the arms of his mother, Mrs. Marie Kasprzycki, 19 years old, when the car they were riding in collided with another machine at 55th street and Wolf road, Western Springs. There were seven other persons, including Frank Sundacz, 60 years old, of 940 West 29th street, the driver, in the car, said to be an outdated model. All were injured and taken to the Hinsdale sanitarium. Only one, Mrs. Victoria Jackins, 2323 South Washtenaw, remained there.

Expectant Mother Killed.

In another accident last night at 159th street and Crawford avenue, Bremen township, Mrs. Angela Fleming, 23 years old, 209 Park avenue, Joliet, an expectant mother, was killed and nine other persons were hurt. Five of the injured were in her car. They were Corwell Fleming, her husband; Miss Rita Fleming and Esworth Fleming, both of 522 West 6th avenue, Gary, and his sister and brother, and Forbes and Fred Schaller, 1215 Benton street, Joliet, brothers.

The injured in the other machine were Frank Hatfield, 4431 Berkley avenue; his wife, Bernice; his grandfather, Ernest Hatfield, 75, and his aunt, Miss Myrtle Hatfield, 40, both of 2241 South Kirkland avenue. Ernest Hatfield was reported in a critical condition at the Oak Forest infirmary.

Joseph Sabatka, 21 years old, 1417 Dickson street, was killed, and Florian Kurkowski, 2217 Wayne [Ward] street; Earl Simpson, 2244 Wayne street, and Leonard Hoffman, 436 Illinois street, were hurt when Hoffman drove his automobile into the parked car of the three other men in Skokie boulevard, near Winnetka road, Northfield township.

Stepson Finds Auto Victim.

In Lake county, half a mile south of Channel Lake, a hit and run car speeding north in Route 173 struck and killed William Belter, 55 years old, a farmer living in the district. Belter was discovered dead by his stepson, Carl Bartel, who did not recognize him at the time and ran into town to summon help.

Chicagoans killed in out of town accidents were Mrs. Mabel Schumacher, 52 years old; Earl E. Burrell, 27; Ellis Paul, 25, and John P. Armstrong. Their addresses were not learned. Mrs. Schumacher was fatally injured when her car overturned at Bay City, Mich.

E. L. Ferguson, the driver, and Vivian, his daughter, both of Chicago, were hurt. Burrell was injured at Jackson, Mich., early in the day and died last night. Paul and Armstrong lost their lives in a head-on crash with a truck 12 miles east of Iowa City, Ia. Myrtle Paul, 20, a cousin of Ellis, who was driving, was uninjured.

Injuries Prove Fatal.

Joseph Madgziarz, 45 years old, 2519 South Whipple street, a foundry worker, died yesterday in county hospital of injuries incurred May 22 when he was struck by the car of a hit and run driver at Albany avenue and 26th street.

Policeman Norman Quam, 31 years old, of the West North avenue station, was seriously injured early yesterday by a hit and run motorist at Nevada and Cicero avenues. He was found lying unconscious on the pavement and taken to Danish-American hospital.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 434 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 338 were killed in Chicago, where in the same period 8,251 were injured.

(Story in adjoining column.)

OLD MONK FOILS POLICEMEN, BUT SLIPS ON BANANA

Old Monk, a playful simian, has no love for policemen, but bananas—that's different. Lured by the tropical like weather yesterday, Old Monk skipped out of a museum at 446 South State street. Arthur Feilchenfeld, the owner, called police. The monkey dodged State street trafic and perched on a high bookshelf in a bookstore at 527 South State street. There Policemen Harry Mandel and Gnady found him. They beckoned, they whistled and they called, but Old Monk eyed them coldly. Pretty soon Owner Feilchenfeld appeared. He held out a banana to the fugitive monkey. That was enough. Old Monk swung down and took the banana, and Feilchenfeld took Old Monk.

FLEE VOLCANIC ERUPTIONS AND QUAKES ON ISLE

PORT MORESBY, British New Guinea, May 31.—[Monday]—(AP)—Wireless dispatches received here today said serious volcanic eruptions and earth shocks have led to the evacuation of nearly all the population of Rabaul, on the Pacific Island of New Britain. Terrified natives as well as white residents were taken from the port.

The Australian naval surveying vessel Moresby reported she was on her way to Rabaul carrying food and medicines. Two other vessels were standing off the coast to render assistance.

[New Britain is an island of the Bismarck Archipelago, formerly owned by Germany but an Australian mandate since the world war. Rabaul is the chief port for its export trade in cotton and copra. The Archipelago lies just below the equator and north of New Guinea.]

EXPLOSION BURNS DECORATOR; MILK DRIVER SAVES HIM

John Abrams, 30 years old, 1705 North La Salle street, an interior decorator, was seriously burned yesterday when his gasoline heated steam wall paper remover exploded as he was at work alone in a flat at 521 Brompton avenue.

His clothing on fire, Abrams ran down the rear stairway of the building. Only the quick action of Robert Fine, 4624 Monticello avenue, a milk truck driver, saved him from burning to death. Fine seized a fire extinguisher from his truck and put out the flames.

Abrams was taken to the John B. Murphy hospital where his condition was reported critical. Fine, who also aided firemen in extinguishing the blaze in the flat, suffered minor hand burns.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Corn Still Unplanted

May 30, 1937.

RAINS last week soaked the fields and continued to delay planting of crops at the Wheaton farm. Workers have been unable to plant a single row of corn, which usually is planted before this time. It will be necessary to get it in the ground soon if a crop of good silage corn is to mature before killing frosts in the fall.

The manager says there is plenty of time left for the sowing of fifteen acres of hemp to be raised this year for commercial purposes. Three years of experience in the growing of hemp indicates that in northern Illinois this crop will develop rapidly even under adverse weather condition. In test plots in 1934 and under field conditions in 1936 hemp plants thrived during extreme dry weather.

Crops Grow Well.

Most of the crops that have been planted continue to grow rapidly. All of the small grain crops—fall sown wheat and rye, and spring sown oats and barley—are making satisfactory progress.

Heads began to form in the rye field last week. A good crop of straw will be produced on the low fertile parts of the field.

All of the oats are up. The last sown sprouted quickly and were above ground in a little over a week after they were sown. Some of the earlier seeded oats are between three and four inches high and are of a rich green color. There is a good stand of both oats and barley.

Heavy rains soaked the soil so thoroughly this spring that it has been necessary to rake off the straw used as a winter mulch in the combination vineyard and berry plantation so that ground would dry out. As soon as the ground dries enough that it can be safely worked the vineyard and plantation will be cultivated to kill the weeds and grass that have been coming up through the straw lately.

A thin covering of straw will be kept around the strawberry plants to help smother the weeds and grass and keep the berries clean and free from sand and silt.

Soy Beans Planted.

Vegetable varieties of soy beans, grown successfully in test plots at the Wheaton farm last summer, were planted in field A last week. These beans are being grown for table use. Giant Green is the easiest of the three vegetable varieties planted this year. Last year, despite the dry summer, the Giant Green beans were ready to eat about the middle of August.

Triple Holiday Fills Chicago Country Clubs

Many Start Season with Dancing Parties.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE country clubs in the Chicago area have been beehives of activity since Saturday morning and they will not settle down to their after-Sunday lethargy until tomorrow since today is the Memorial day holiday. Most of the clubs opened formally for the summer with dancing parties Saturday night.

The golf courses of all but a few of the clubs will be sacred to men players today, but there will be plenty for the women and children to do, for tennis courts are in apple-pie order and most of the clubs that have swimming pools have them filled and ready for use if the weather is suitable.

Play for McKinlock Cup at Onwentsia Today.

One of the principal golf events of the season at the Onwentsia club is the competition for the George Alexander McKinlock Jr. Memorial cup which is held every Memorial day. The cup will be the prize for a tournament to be held today. Stuart J. Templeton is golf chairman of the Onwentsia. Frederic McLaughlin II. was club champion last year.

An innovation at the club this spring has been installation of a stop and sock station on the polo field. There the tired business man may hit balls from 4 until 8 o'clock on weekdays without having to follow them about the course. Stop and sock hours on Saturdays are from 9 o'clock until 1, and on Sundays from 9 until 1 and from 2 until 6 o'clock.

Charles S. Garland is chairman of the tennis committee and Thomas A. Connors is in charge of the entertainment committee. The first large party of the year was given on Saturday night, a buffet dinner-cabaret dance, starting at 8 o'clock. The swimming pool was opened Saturday.

The Shoreacres club also gave a dinner-dance on Saturday night. The Kimball Salisburys and the Thorne Donnelleys entertained jointly, and the Solomon B. Smiths also gave a party there last night.

Donald B. Douglas, golf chairman, planned several tournaments for the long week-end.

Outdoor Dance Opens Season at Chicago Golf.

The Chicago Golf club at Wheaton had its formal opening dance in the out of doors Saturday night, building for this purpose a platform in the Italian garden. All of the cottages and rooms at the club have been taken for the summer by the large group of city members who usually spend two or three months at the club, and all of whom were dancing there Saturday night.

The Irving Allens, who have bought the Albert Pardridges' Villa Azure, the Allan Jacksons, the Ernest P. Wauds, the Orville J. Taylors, the Edward E. Browns, the John J. Abbotts, and John D. Black, president of the club, and Mrs. Black are some of those who have taken cottages or rooms. Today there will be a 36 hole men's golf tournament for the John B. Murphy trophy, and a ladies' putting contest.

Jarvis Hunt Jr., was last year's golf champion. Francis R. Blossom is chairman of the golf committee; Frank J. Llewellyn is in charge of tennis, and John R. Hurley is entertainment chairman for the 1937 season. The swimming pool was opened Saturday. Dances will be held twice monthly.

Glen View Club Gives Its First Dinner-Dance.

The Glen View club gave its first dinner-dance Saturday night and its first Sunday night buffet supper last evening. As other clubs are doing, it has arranged its Memorial day men's golf events for today. The pool was ready Saturday.

For a change this year, the club will hold its weekly dinner-dances on Friday, instead of Thursday nights, beginning June 18. All of the attractive apartments on the club grounds have been taken, and most of them are occupied now. The Frank R. Elliotts have moved out from the Drake; Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Stevens are there, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner B. Van Ness, among others.

The Elliotts, Dr. Carl Davis, the Wentworth P. MacKenzies, the Alexander I. MacKenzies, the junior John W. Embrees, the Charles O. Rundalls, Carl Latham and Norman Ford entertained at the Saturday night party. John D. Ames was last season's golf champion. Mrs. Charles M. Price is chairman of the women's golf committee, with Mrs. Ames as vice chairman.

Mrs. Virginia Vilas Norton and Mrs. Charles F. Elmes are in charge of special golfing events, and a group of women, two by two, will take care of June, July, August, and September events. They are Miss Elizabeth Wing, Mrs. W. H. DeWitt Jr., Mrs. Leon C. Welch, Miss Ada K. Rew, Mrs. William L. Graham Jr., Mrs. Innes MacKenzie, Mrs. H. Mitchell Harper, and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott.

Barrington Hills Country Club Gives Dinner-Dance.

Being farther from the city to the north, and presumably in cooler country, the Barrington Hills Country club is not planning to open its pool for two weeks yet, but it gave its first dinner-dance of the season on Saturday night. The tennis courts are in order, and the golf course is in perfect shape for the men's golfing events.

Frank Johnson is head of the golf committee, and Mrs. Alfred R. Watt is the tennis chairman. The Samuel D. Rowes, the H. Stillson Harts, the Edwin A. Seipps, the James R. Card-

Seamy Aspects of Modern Life Told in Music

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Robert L. Sanders, resident composer and teacher who served as guest conductor of the Illinois Symphony orchestra at the Great Northern yesterday, introduced in the course of the concert his own "Scenes of Toil and Poverty." This work, it is true, was played by the Chicago Symphony orchestra a year ago last winter, but under a title far less harsh, "The Tragic Muse." The names of the individual movements—two of which verge on the indelicate—were not printed in the program on that occasion.

Hearing the suite now, with its full set of titles, it is possible to appreciate the seriousness and musical skill with which Mr. Sanders has sought to express in terms of his art the sick, static misery of various types and institutions which exist within the framework of our social system, but which really nice people, it is thought, do not know much about. "Bread Line," "Sweat Shop," "Lame Beggar," "Wanton," "Street Gang"—these titles account adequately for the stricken character of the music.

Mr. Saunders also conducted Corelli's second concerto grosso, a Mozart E flat symphony [not the familiar one—the Illinois Symphony orchestra's appetite for novelties has uncovered a product of the composer's seventeenth year], Saint-Saëns' "Africa" fantasia, Leo Sowerby's "L'Amore di Quei Due" and "Money Musk," and the "Rienzi" overture of Wagner.

In the Saint-Saëns, the piano part was the charge of Dorys Seelig, a young musician of extraordinary accuracy and fluency who possesses the most supple pair of wrists now on view in the middle west. Her encore was something called "The Wedding Cake," also by Saint-Saëns.

The program went swimmingly, with plaudits aplenty for conductor and soloist and two consignments of flowers for the latter.

The Polish Singers' Alliance of America, holding its twenty-fifth annual convention this week-end in Chicago, presented an elaborate and successful concert at the Auditorium theater last night. The United Men's choirs [more than 100 voices] and the United Ladies' choirs [about 70] were the staple feature of a program which offered a fair sized orchestra as well and several soloists.

These latter were Harriet Furmaniak, soprano; Thaddeus Kozuch, pianist; and Mira Grelichowska, recitationist. Alexander Karczynski conducted. The music was exclusively Polish either in origin or inspiration.

Africa and Burma Add Brilliance to Party Attended by Royal Pair

BY MAY BIRKHEAD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 30.—The guests at the big garden party given by the marchioness of Salisbury at Hatfield house yesterday afternoon and its setting formed a striking picture. It seemed that nearly all who hold an outstanding place in British life, from members of the cabinet to an amazingly costumed East African ruler and his suite, were present to meet the duke and duchess of Gloucester, brother and sister-in-law of King George VI.

The black potentate from East Africa was draped voluminously in coronation blue velvet with a Latin phrase printed thereon, indicating he was celebrating some kind of centenary. His headpiece was a coronet affair of blue stuff crowned by a miniature elephant made of gold braid and surrounded by gold birds.

The members of his entourage, like himself as black as the ace of spades, were arrayed in dazzling colors.

Some of the maharajas and their wives who were present wore native costumes, the women draped in gold and delicate colors, with diamonds in their noses and red spots on their foreheads to mark their rank.

The most spectacular was a group of Burmese, the dainty daughter of the family appearing in her costume of green and white filmy material and looking as if she were carved out of jade. Her tiny mother had on a peach colored robe.

As they raised their parasols, richly painted in flowers, and with their jet black hair trussed up stovepipe fashion, with a big diamond in front, they presented an appearance which carried off the honors for dress.

The throng of guests, numbering at least 1,000, delighted in the rare chance to see Hatfield house occasioned when the distinguished chatelaine, the marchioness of Salisbury, the former Lady Alice Gore, daughter of the fifth earl of Arran, dispenses large scale hospitality.

So rich is this great seat, which scarcely has an equal in setting or history even in England, in story and ornament that many visits could not exhaust its interest. I was fortunate in being in a group which included Mrs. Dugdale, the marchioness of Salisbury's cousin and a granddaughter of the celebrated statesman, the Victorian marquess of Salisbury.

Among the immense oaks that line the driveway along which the duke and duchess of Gloucester rode up in state before the bowing and curtseying guests, was one, a huge affair, mentioned in the Doomsday Book, where Queen Elizabeth of great memory was seated as a young woman when she heard of her accession.

Hurrying across the park to the palace she was so moved she dropped her hat and did not wait for it to be restored to her. The hat is in a glass case in the famous King James room at Hatfield house, and every one surveyed it with interest, along with Queen Bess' stockings and other celebrated relics.

The Gloucesters, with quite a group following them, went for tea into the old castle off from the main building where Queen Bess was virtually a prisoner. The duchess wore a long dress of beige lace with a large brown hat, having a green quill stuck through the brim.

WEDDING

Announcement is made of the marriage in New York on Saturday of Isabel Cline, Chicago singer, to David Malcolm Renton of Pasadena and Catalina Island, Cal. The ceremony took place at high noon in the Collegiate church of Radio City. Dr. Malcolm James McLeod, formerly of Pasadena, retired pastor of the New York St. Nicholas Presbyterian church, officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cline of Kenilworth.

Mr. Renton, who for more than 15 years was vice president and general manager of the Santa Catalina Island company, retired a year ago, but retains his place on the board of directors. He now is in the cattle business. Mr. and Mrs. Renton will spend several weeks in New England with headquarters at Whitinsville, Mass., returning to the Pacific coast in midsummer.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

THE news that birds, too, gedunk is offered by a nature lover who watched the operations of a handsome grackle on the lawn of his sister's home in Elmhurst. The bird flew to the bird bath carrying a large piece of bread in its bill, and carefully placed the bread to soak at the edge of the basin, from which spot it could fish it out easily. When the bread had soaked to a desirable consistency the grackle picked it up, flew to a nearby spot on the lawn, and ate it with obvious relish.

COINCIDENCE. A wanderer in Garfield park last week noted the tulips, with petals fallen and stems withered, that bore a tag reading "John D. Rockefeller Tulip."

THERE are hatpins in quantity stored away, it becomes apparent after the piece about hatpins printed in this space recently. Jeweled and monogrammed hatpins, hatpins with dragon fly and water lily heads, plain silver hatpins. "Mine range from 6½ to 12 inches in length, and I wore a cartwheel hat pinned with hatpins and an ankle length skirt for mountain climbing in Switzerland in 1909," writes one woman. Another lists her hatpin collection: "One topaz and rhinestone hatpin; one pair of sterling silver, short ones, evidently for turbans; two pairs made from my grandfather's cuff buttons; two gold with topaz; one jet and rhinestone hatpin, originally worn with a hat with willow plumes; one amber and rhinestone, spike shape. I well remember how particular we all were to leave our hatpins sticking straight up in hats when we took them off, for identification and safety. . . ."

SLUMMING on Park avenue note. When Lillian Craske Leavitt went for a stroll and encountered a crowd about fashionable St. Chrysostom's church on Dearborn parkway a decidedly frowzy and coarse looking woman offered the information that a wedding was taking place. The wedding party emerged at that moment, and the woman looked at the bride critically.

"The creature's not bad looking," she commented loftily.

Good Morning!

Never expected I'd live to see the day when Melvyn Douglas would be discovered acting as chaperon to ANY woman!

But life is like that. The unbelievable has happened. In "I Met Him in Paris" he plays—unwillingly and grouchily enough—duenna [or duenner?] to Miss Colbert and Mr. Young.

You see, George Potter loves Kay Denham, and he knows that Gene Anders is married—a fact which the last named genial soul has not seen fit to divulge to the interesting lady. And so George plays tag-along to Switzerland, where, after a session of sports and yodeling [close your eyes during some of the skiing sequences and you'll think you're in the Lincoln park birdhouse] he comes into his own.

Miss Colbert enters the story as the fascinating dress designer of a department store in the United States, who has at last saved up enough money for a long desired trip to Paris. She leaves behind her a pensive and persistent suitor named Hadley. . . .

In a Paris hotel she encounters Playwright Potter and Playboy Anders, both of whom are immediately smitten with her charms. They beau her around and Anders suggests that she accompany him to Switzerland. . . . All in the cause of good, clean fun, Kay believes, but George, who kens his sidekick well, knows better. The picture will reveal further developments.

This is light and, I suppose, what one would term "sophisticated" fare. But its story is too perfectly obvious; the sports scenes too long drawn out. Also, Miss Colbert's work seemed rather forced to me. She's lovely to look at, however, and wears some fetching clothes.

Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young handle their rôles expertly, getting quite a few laughs.

The picture is handsomely staged and there's some beautiful scenery.

See you tomorrow.

Lead in Chicago Movie Assigned to Jean Harlow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Calif., May 30.—[Special.]—Jean Harlow has been cast in the lead rôle in the coming movie, "In Old Chicago," which portrays the city in post-civil war vicissitudes and has as one climax the Chicago fire of 1871. Miss Harlow formerly resided in Chicago and was educated at Lake Forest. Don Ameche, Chicago radio entertainer, has the male lead. Others featured are Tyrone Power, Phyllis Brooks, and Virginia Field. Twentieth Century-Fox is making the picture, with Henry King directing.

Bill Powell in "Double Wedding" at Metro was dissatisfied with the costume of a beret and smock. "It doesn't seem right somehow," Powell said, and his director agreed. They couldn't decide what the actor ought to wear. At that moment John Arnold, head of the studio camera department happened on the set wearing a brown doeskin Norfolk jacket.

"Just the thing" exclaimed Powell, and now Arnold can't get his own coat to wear.

Cotton Week Brings Special Style Displays

New Fabrics and Designs Attract Notice.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Here comes the annual cotton parade! Because of National Cotton week cotton pickers from coast to coast will find all-time high showings of cotton clothes and prize winning assortments of new cottons by the yard. There are prints, plain colors, stripes, thin and not so thin cotton for every hour of the day. All kinds of trick textures, all kinds of new weaves, guaranteed colorproof preshrunk stuff, whether in the dress or off the huge bolts.

Cotton with a linen Shantung texture is stealing the fashion spotlight for daytime and spectator sports clothes. Black, brown, navy, beige, white, and pastel blue make some startlingly smart summer street suits in two piece models.

And copper brown [British tan to some] is one of the most effective colors to be found in the big cotton parade. This tone goes as well with chalk white costume accessories as it does with black, and dozens of smart women are wearing British tan costumes instead of dull black.

Printed piqués rate with the Shantung cottons. The piqués are fine ribbed, soft and pliable—easy to wear and easy to sew. Play suits, tennis outfits, street dresses and suits are made of pastel and bright colored piqué.

New wrinkles in seersucker are bigger and puffier, with gay printed designs in brilliant colors against equally vivid but contrasting backgrounds.

Quaint old fashioned flowered dimities and sheer muslins, have been revived this summer to make the most romantic of dance and party dresses. Added starters are the clever new dotted Swisses, with plain round pindots of color or the newer star shaped dots.

Eyelet cottons and cotton laces make smart daytime suits or longer dresses for summer cocktail parties. Cotton trailer clothes, beach outfits, from swim suits to lounging robes and coats, and slacks are other cotton numbers.

Cotton plaids are used for street as well as play clothes, cotton blouses, cotton hats, gloves, belts, huge peasant patterned handkerchiefs to tie around the headlines, even lapel flowers of cotton are part of the cotton crop of brand new summer fashions.

These cottons wear, stay crisp, clean and bright after weeks of steady use. You can wear cotton from dawn till way after dark, it will keep you cool, smart, and well groomed at a cost that every one can manage.

SYNOPSIS.

Brave Alida French opens up Avalon, the ancestral home she has inherited on the Massachusetts coast, for paying guests—though the house, according to local gossip, is haunted. Four men have vanished from it. Her guests are Vance, a young man with a fatal heart ailment; Dr. Eugene Benedict, struggling young physician, and his wife, Lucy, a nurse. Bing Haven, her family lawyer's nephew, assists Alida. Alida hires Comfort Folger, who used to work at Avalon, also her nephew Nat and Abram Parsons, whom Comfort refuses to marry because of his drinking. Vance and the Benedicts, driving to Avalon, collide with the car of the rich, neurotic Mrs. Kirkpatrick and her daughter, Spring. They take them with them to Avalon. Bing Haven and Spring fall in love. A dancing skeleton and two strange men in antique clothes are seen on the grounds of Avalon. Comfort shows Alida a secret cellar for storing liquor. Dr. Benedict tells Alida he has learned that Mrs. Kirkpatrick is the mistress of a wealthy man in the west. Spring, unknown to her, is a child of the Halmon. When Bing asks her permission to marry Spring, Mrs. Kirkpatrick tells him the truth. He still wants to marry Spring.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

IN LOVE.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's smile flashed out again. This time it was the real thing. "I simply mean that Spring will get a letter from my lawyers saying I'm dead and buried. He will tell her he had thought she was still in Europe, and that he had only just found her new name and address among my papers. She doesn't know the name I use in California. Supposedly, there will be a Mrs. Geraldine Kirkpatrick killed. My lawyer is a clever man. He understands all the conditions. He will do everything very efficiently. I thought it all out several years ago. There will even be a lot and a grave with a headstone in a certain cemetery near San Francisco in case——. But I advise you never to let her visit them."

"But," Bing was stammering incoherently, "is all that necessary? It seems horrible to me."

"It is necessary. So all this must be done my way. If it wasn't Spring would have a terrible jolt some day. It would be a jolt she'd never get over." The woman before him repeated her earlier statement as if to clinch the argument. "I've thought it all out. It must be done my way."

Bing nodded.

"I suppose so," he faltered. "But it seems terrible. How about you? You're fond of Spring, aren't you?"

"Very fond. I've tried not to let her grow too fond. I knew that some day this break must come. It's what I've been working toward ever since Spring was born. Her one chance is a happy marriage. I'm a lucky woman to have found a clean living, clean minded husband for her in this simple little New England town. One who—who——" For the first time the woman's cold face twitched uncontrollably, "one who understands," she brought out. "If I dared I'd thank God for that."

"But—her father. Will he agree to all this?"

Again there was the uncontrollable twitch of the woman's features.

"He will, indeed. It will be a great relief to him. Spring's birth was a blow. He regarded it as a menace to his son, who is the apple of his eye. He is still afraid I'll make some claims for Spring after he's dead that may raise a scandal and embarrass his son. He's a rich man and an important one. When Spring was born I made him settle $100,000 on her to assure her future. He did that willingly enough. There's nothing mean about him. He has always paid all her expenses, of course—so the hundred thousand has grown. She and I have had to sign all sorts of papers. He's so afraid that what he calls 'irregularities' will come out later. It seems incredible, but he hasn't even seen Spring since she was a baby. She hasn't seen much of me, either, poor child, except when I would get away to Europe in the summers. I've burrowed into Avalon because I was at my wits' end to know what to do with the girl. I had to have time to think. I'd have endured more than ghosts to stay here. Poor Spring never had a home. She hasn't had much love, either, except mine. I was even afraid to let her see that—for fear we'd get too close."

Her face twitched again. "She's lost a lot in life. You will have to make it up to her."

"I'll spend my life doing that, Mrs. Kirkpatrick," Bing said simply.

She rose abruptly. He saw her pull herself together and, as it seemed, adjust her mask. "Let's go back to the others," she suggested. "Why not tell them the news? It will add to the gayety."

Looking at them as they reëntered the living room together Alida knew that all was well. The strain of the interview had left its mark on both faces, but those two understood each other.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick had been right in her prediction of the effect of the announcement. At the first possible moment Benedict cornered Alida and asked the inevitable question. "Does Bing know about everything?"

She could answer that. Bing had already waylaid her in the back hall.

"Of course," she said. "Mrs. Kirkpatrick told him. Weren't you sure she would do the right thing?"

"No." But Benedict was content now. Care and responsibility dropped from his shoulders so obviously that Alida saw them fall.

Vance, who knew nothing of these undercurrents, was suddenly in high spirits over "this young romance in our midst." He started the old vocalion and led forth Mrs. Kirkpatrick for a foxtrot. At the height of the frivolity Benedict again appeared at Alida's side with an expression so conspiratorial that she had observed it across the room. This time it was Vance's health he had on his mind.

"He ought not to be doing that," he muttered, discontented eyes on Vance and his partner. "We ought to stop it."

"He won't do it very long. He doesn't talk about his heart and he won't be talked to about it. Just the same he takes very good care of it," Alida pointed out. "Haven't you noticed that?"

"I've noticed a lot of things," Benedict said modestly. "Among others, I've noticed that he really is desperately in love with you."

"That's nonsense," Alida spoke curtly, but her breath caught.

"It's true. He thinks he mustn't let you know because of his health. But I've a notion——" the doctor was still watching Vance closely with the eyes that twenty years later belonged to one of New York's leading diagnosticians—"that he's better than he's supposed to be. This isn't a medical opinion," he added hastily. "It's more a hunch than anything else. It's incredible that a man like Cunningham should blunder. . . . Just the same. . . . I haven't had a chance to examine him, or even to ask any questions . . . I've simply used my eyes. There are a lot of little indications——" Alida realized that he was thinking aloud.

"I know. I felt that way, too, from the first. But he thinks he's a dying man. It's having an odd effect on him. He's fading out like a picture on a screen. Not physically, but mentally. At this moment he seems the life of the party. But he isn't really thinking of any of us. He's off in the donjon tower where he really lives. To him we're just shadows. I think he's always been self-centered, and this experience he's going through is shutting out everything else."

Benedict nodded.

"Everything but you. I'd give something for a chance to look him over, but I don't dare to suggest it."

Lucy came to the study after breakfast the next morning to say that her patient requested the honor of an interview with Miss French at half past twelve o'clock.

"She's up and dressed and she's going to Mr. Haven's office for an 11 o'clock appointment," Lucy explained. "Settlements and things, I guess."

Alida had formed the habit of passing an hour or two in the study after breakfast, going over her mail, planning her meals, and giving Comfort her orders for the day.

When Lucy had gone she did not return to her letters. Instead she sat motionless, staring down at her desk. She had fallen in love with a man who was definitly on the defensive against her. Dispassionately and for the first time she looked her situation in the face. It had come about naturally enough. "Pity is akin to love." She knew better than that. But Vance's situation had thrust him dramatically into the forefront of her life, had centered her thoughts on him from the first. In the end—she might as well admit it—that situation had also centered her heart on him.

Stimulating Skin Gives Relief from Many of Its Ills

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Stimulation is one of the most important factors in the proper care of skin. The use of a complexion brush, followed by a cold water rinse, is one way of promoting circulation.

Skin tonics may be used by women who feel they couldn't possibly apply an astringent because of its harshness.

Astringent lotions act not only to remove excess oil but to refine the pore openings, so they are a wise choice for an oily skin. They are stronger in their action than a skin tonic, consequently they are not suited to a dry, sensitive skin. When an astringent lotion is applied there is a tingling sensation.

And then there are masks. Masks, in addition to stimulating, do a thorough cleansing job. They get down deep into the pores and remove the dirt which has accumulated in them. One spreads them on the face quickly and evenly, lies down for fifteen or twenty minutes while the mask is on in order that one may properly relax facial muscles. Remove with warm water, followed by a splashing of cold water, or an ice rub. If the skin is oily apply an astringent lotion at this time. If the skin is dry massage nourishing cream into it.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A smart thing to do if you've terribly dry skin is to keep right on with your hundred and one tricks of oiling it. Don't relax during the summer as too many of us do.

For skin of this type a bath oil is probably a little better than preparations of another type. On the theory that every little bit of oiling helps, it's wise to use a good oil daily.

If you'd like something de luxe we know just the oil for you. It's a companion piece to a fine perfume that came out last year—a most fascinating floral bouquet. This is distinctive in that it's such an exciting blend of the light notes one expects with a pervasive undertone of heaviness or languor that comes as a surprise.

It's not oriental, we hasten to add, but it does have a very come-hither-ish tropical touch which gives it depth, character, and beauty.

The bath oil in this perfume is positively thrilling. You need no more than three or four drops to scent the water, your skin, and even the whole room. The bottle, fortunately, has a shaker top so that you won't be tempted to waste the precious contents.

You'll find this oil in several of the shops. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Triple Holiday Fills Chicago Country Clubs

Many Start Season with Dancing Parties.

wells, the Robert Buckleys and the Harold B. Smiths are some of those who were dining and dancing at the club Saturday.

The Indian Hill club has postponed the opening of its pool until early in June, but all of the club's other facilities were in use this week-end. The Robert Lairds, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hicks Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. N. Landon Hoyt Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Leon T. Ellis entertained at the dance Saturday.

There will be a golf tournament today for the Douglas Smith trophy. Morris K. Wilson is last year's club champion. Leslie S. Gordon is the golf chairman.

Knollwood Club Men Play for Trophy Today.

The beautiful big pool at the Knollwood club will be filled today, but the cabanas and the territory about the pool were in order for the opening dinner-dance Saturday night. Today the masculine members will play for the Memorial day trophy. The winner's name is engraved on a plaque in the locker room.

Norman Hoag was last year's golf champion. Col. Charles H. MacDowell is golf chairman, and William Bradford Freer is in charge of tennis. As at the Exmoor club, there is dancing every Saturday night at Knollwood. The first of the big summer parties is scheduled for June 19. It will be a Coney Island party, complete with merry-go-rounds and street fairs.

The Exmoor Country club planned a 54 hole golf tournament for its men members Saturday, Sunday and today, as well as a junior handicap tournament to be played today. The opening dinner-dance was held Saturday night, with the outdoor platform in use, as it will be every Saturday night for the remainder of the summer. The pool was filled Saturday.

Richard Gambrill Jr. was last year's golf champion. Carl E. Ingram is chairman of the golf committee, T Weller Kimball is in charge of tennis, and Chase M. Smith is head of the entertainment committee.

The Michael J. O'Briens, the F. Norwood Bards, the John T. Beatlys and Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis are among those who had guests at the party Saturday night.

It's a Golf Week-End at Skokie Club.

The Skokie Country club in Glencoe will not hold its opening dinner-dance until June 12, but the club had several special men's golfing events over the week-end. Luther Dearborn is chairman of the golf committee, and P. C. Barber is tennis chairman. The Skokie holds two dances a month.

The Evanston Golf club is making the week-end celebration a family one, with the only official event a two ball mixed foursome, the first of the season, played yesterday. Mrs. George Martin and Mrs. Henry T. Roberts co-chairmen of the card committee have obtained Mrs. Maxine C. Miner for a weekly series of Thursday morning lectures on contract bridge. The first one is scheduled for Thursday at 11 a. m. with a luncheon following and an afternoon of bridge.

Hester Ann Thomas Engaged to New Yorker.

To add romantic interest to the Memorial day holiday is the announcement from Mrs. Cary Wood Thomas of Highland Park of the engagement of her daughter, Hester Ann, to Raeburn F. Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marley F. Hay of Dampierre Seine et Oise, France.

The romance between Miss Thomas and the young man, who is English, despite the residence in France of his parents, began when Miss Thomas was a student at the Sorbonne in Paris. Before going abroad to study Miss Thomas attended Bryn Mawr college on a regional scholarship. She completed her education at the University of Chicago, where she was a member of Mortar Board.

Mr. Hay, whose mother is a native of California, was educated abroad, and has been engaged in business in England. He is working in New York now, however, and he and his bride will make their home in New York following their wedding in the early autumn.

Barat College Presents Honor Awards Today.

Miss Martha Garvy, daughter of Dr. A. Cosmas Garvy of Chicago, will receive the Barat prize at the presentation of honor day awards at Barat college in Lake Forest this afternoon. The prize is the highest honor the college bestows.

Miss Caterina Bolognesi, daughter of Count and Countess Bolognesi of Chicago and Lake Nebagamon, Wis., will receive the Sportsmanship cup. Miss Rosemary Sauer, daughter of Mrs. William A. Sauer of Evanston, will be awarded a medal given to the school by the French government for the excellence of her French.

At the graduation day exercises tomorrow, Miss Eleanor Kennedy of Minneapolis will be graduated summa cum laude, the first student ever to receive the honor at the college. Miss Martha Catherine Cummings, daughter of Mrs. Leo Cummings, and Miss Zita von Haller, daughter of the Carl von Hallers of Harvey, also will receive their sheepskins. Miss Bolognesi has been elected president of the student body for the coming year.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jordan Wilson of Hubbard Woods announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary-Evelyn, to Robert William Sparks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sparks of San Francisco, Cal., formerly of Wilmette. Miss Wilson, who is called Sunny by her friends, attended the National College of Education and is a member of the Grey Ladies. Mr. Sparks is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Practical Frock for Parties

GIRL'S DRESS.

Little girls with party-dress complexes often are burdens to their mothers. They want their frocks frilly and glamorous, but they overlook the fact that mother is the one who has to keep such frocks laundered and pressed. If mother enjoys sewing [and she should, because it's a practice that brings wonderful results in economy] she can make dainty party frocks for her Mary Jane and be clever about combining both fluffiness and practicality. The frock illustrated today should please both mother and daughter. It has a Peter Pan collar with ribbon stitched down to form stripes. The sleeves, which have the same trimming, are raglan in style, cut in one with the shoulder. The panel down the front and the dainty pockets are edged with the same ruffling that adorns the collar and sleeves, and a bit of the ribbon is used on the pockets, too.

The original of this pretty frock is fashioned of Puritan gray lawn, with crisp white ruffle trim and black ribbon. Other sheers, in all the wide variety of colors available, make up beautifully in this model. For more practical wear mother might select a tissue gingham in gay red and white plaid with contrasting white collar.

Style No. 3395 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material with 6 yards of ruffling.

Simplicity to Mark Roosevelt-Du Pont Wedding on June 30

Wilmington, Del., May 30.—(AP)—When the dainty blonde Ethel du Pont stands up June 30 with Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr. to say "I do" the scene will be as simple as if some small town banker's daughter were being married.

Miss du Pont wants simple green and white decorations. So she and her fiancé have decided on white lilies and palms to bank the altar and dozens of white taper candles to gleam in the chancel.

There will be 300 invited guests to see the ceremony since that's all the church will hold.

The wedding party itself is uncertain. But it will include either six or eight bridesmaids. Aimee du Pont, the bride's younger sister, will be the maid-of-honor, and John Roosevelt, the groom's younger brother, will be among the ushers.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Endicott Peabody, head master at Groton school, where young Roosevelt was a student.

At 5 p. m. the wedding party will start up the center aile to the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, the only music Miss du Pont wants in the ceremony.

Filling Cookie Jar Is Simple Job Nowadays

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"Take three pounds of very fine flour and put to it a pound and a half of loaf sugar sifted in a very fine sieve and dried. . . ." So begins one of the very earliest of cookie or "small cake" recipes, prized oy 16th century English cooks. These confections were made "the bigness of a handbreadth and thin," and their making required painstaking care and much time.

Given one of these ancient recipes and the only ingredients available to the old time cook, no modern homemaker would have the patience nor care to spend the time necessary to bake cookies. How easy cookie making has become since those early days!

Chilled dough may be handled much more easily than warm dough and will submit meekly to the brutal action of the rolling pin without the addition of surplus flour. Several hours in the refrigerator will subdue the most recalcitrant cookie dough.

In the rolling out process a minimum of flour should be used on the rolling surface and pin. The pastry canvas and cloth covered pin are to be recommended. It is possible to do a good job of rolling without the addition of any flour at all by placing the dough on a sheet of waxed paper, covering it with another sheet, and using the pin on the waxed surface.

These two sugar cookie recipes are particularly fine, I think, and produce excellent results.

Caramel Flavored Sugar Cookies.

[About four dozen.]

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup white sugar
½ cup brown sugar, sifted
3 beaten eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
3¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda

Cream the fat. Add the white and brown sugars a little at a time and cream together with the butter or margarine very thoroughly. Add beaten eggs and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together and stir well into the first mixture. Chill the dough. Roll to about a fourth inch in thickness, sprinkle with sugar and run the rolling pin lightly over the sugar to press it slightly into the top of the sheet. Cut out the cookies, place on a cookie sheet, and bake at 350 degrees.

Maple Sugar Cookies.

[About four dozen.]

1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup crushed maple sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons water
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream the fat well and beat the sugar into it very thoroughly. The crushed maple sugar should be sifted. Add beaten eggs and water. Sift flour and baking powder together and add gradually to the other mixture, stirring thoroughly. Chill the dough, roll thinly, and cut out the cookies. Bake on a cookie sheet in a 350 degree oven.

Music in the Home Should Be Part of Child's Inheritance

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

There should be music in every home, no matter how simple the latter may be. It is a unifying force and, unlike some arts, even when one is not "producing" it one can creatively listen to it.

Because even the smallest child is able to understand and enjoy music, it ought to be a part of every child's inheritance.

Ray Lyman Wilbur, speaking of music in the home, has this to say: "The quality of home life largely determines the personal habits which go to make up character. Home life may make for narrowness, or selfishness and preoccupation with trivialities, or it may quite as easily be directed to the cultivation of breadth of sympathy, consideration for others, and interest in the higher values of life."

A ukulele, a banjo, or a guitar may be the inspiration for home singing—or simple accompaniments on a piano, if the family boasts one. If even this isn't possible, there are always records and a phonograph to be had. If there is some one in the family who has musical ability or a good voice, even greater pleasure can be gotten out of music.

Subsequent articles on this subject will give more detailed help on how to bring music into the home.

Writing Shows Strong Will of Daring Dancer

BY MURIEL STAFFORD.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

The "man on the flying trapeze" is nothing compared to a good adagio dancer, thought this graphologist as she watched Sylvia Manon being whirled nonchalantly through the air from one strong man to the next. She was so tiny and so unconcerned!

Of course my next thought was "I wonder how she writes."

A "fly" without a trapeze
Sylvia Manon

As this handwriting clearly shows, she is strong willed indeed. They throw her around dangerously in the act she does, but that is only because she wishes it. You can't do the same thing mentally with any one who presses so heavily upon a pen.

[Incidentally, Miss Manon demonstrated this last fact very well by insisting that trapeze is spelled with two e's.]

Strong will alone didn't explain why she is an adagio dancer. Heavy writers always like money and usually they don't mind admitting it. "Did you take up this kind of work because you liked it or because there was more money in it?" I asked. "Money," she replied decisively. "I'm small and everybody told me I could make much more money as an adagio dancer than any other kind."

There is much courage in this handwriting and not much imagination. If there were too much imagination the courage would probably not be so strong.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

OTHER NO TRUMP OVERCALLS.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

An overcall of an opponent's suit bid of one with one no trump shows a fairly strong hand with three and one-half or more honor tricks, at least five sure winners when vulnerable and four sure winners when not vulnerable, and one or more stoppers in the opponents' suit. This no trump overcall is equivalent to a take-out double, except that a goodly share of its strength is in the opponents' suit. In counting winners for this bid an adequately guarded honor in the opponents' suit may be counted as a winner.

An opponent's bid of one heart may be overcalled with one no trump on any of the following hands:

1. ♠ Q65 ♥ AQ6 ♦ KQJ8 ♣ QJ6
2. ♠ J8 ♥ Q1097 ♦ AK84 ♣ A63
3. ♠ A9 ♥ J9542 ♦ AK6 ♣ KJ5

If it is necessary to bid two no trump in order to overcall the opponents' bid, the hand is about the same in honor trick requirements, but must contain one more winner so as to be safe according to the Rule of Two and Three.

TODAY'S HAND.

Certain hands seem to be natural traps for certain types of players. The hand shown below caused grief to no less than six North-South teams out of a total of ten that played in a recent New York duplicate.

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 10 9 7 6 4
♥ A
♦ A 9 6 3
♣ Q 8 7

EAST
♠ None
♥ Q J 5 3
♦ K Q 8 7 5 4 2

WEST
♥ K 10 9 6 4 2
♦ J 10
♣ K J 3 2

SOUTH
♠ A K Q J 5 3 2
♥ 8 7
♦ None
♣ A 10 6 5

The bidding varied greatly at the different tables, but in the six mentioned the horrible contract of seven spades was reached. This was one typical series of bids:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 hearts	3 spades	4 diamonds
4 spades	Pass	5 hearts	Pass
6 clubs	Pass	6 diams.	Pass
7 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

There was no excuse for South's last bid as above noted. North, it is true, had "cue bid" both of the red suits, showing first round control, but these controls would take care only of South's two hearts. The crucial suit [clubs] had to be filled in completely by North with a singleton, a doubleton king or, if North had three clubs, both the king and queen. There was no indication from North's bidding that in addition to the red aces he held any one of these club combinations and therefore South certainly should have contented himself with a small slam.

At another table the bidding went:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 hearts	3 spades	4 hearts
5 spades	Pass	6 spades	7 hearts
7 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

And here, obviously, North and South were simply "stabbing at the moon."

Curiously enough, despite the fact that most of the teams were using asking bids, not one of the six South players had the presence of mind to make a five club asking bid over East's four heart or four diamond bid. Obviously, a negative response from North, denying first or second round club control, would keep South out of the hopeless grand slam contract.

Those teams that properly started with a two way three bid on the South hand never even approached trouble. West was not strong enough to overcall at the ten trick level, and North responded with four spades. South then could, with comparative safety, investigate a slam by "asking" in hearts, and when the response came, five no trump, a little slam appeared an excellent gamble, as it turned out to be.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer opened the bidding with one club. I [second hand] held ♠ A 9 6 5 3 ♥ A 8 6 4 ♦ A 9 2 ♣ 10. What is my correct bid?

Answer: You should double.

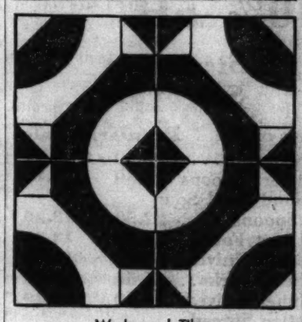
Wedgwood Tiles Form Design of This Old Quilt



Wedgwood Tiles.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Wedgwood Tiles" was the delight and bane of many a quiltmaker's existence during our great-grandmothers' time because it was so difficult to determine the original square when the coverlet was set together as an all-over design. The charm of the individual block is at a minimum when viewed in black and white, but the completed coverlet done in two colors is one of the ranking masterpieces of quiltdom. The block measures 12 inches square when completed, and only 36 are required for one coverlet. These are surrounded by a 10 inch border and bound in a contrasting color.

SOX WIN, 9-6; CUBS TROUNCE CINCINNATI, 7-1

SHUTE DEFEATS M'SPADEN FOR P. G. A. TITLE ON 37TH

CHAMPION EVENS MATCH ON 35TH; PAR ENDS FIGHT

Jug Misses Winning Putt on 36th.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 30.—Silent Denny Shute, the thin man of golf, is still the nation's No. 1 match player. He proved it again today by defeating Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Winchester, Mass., in a stirring thirty-seven hole final match of the twentieth national professional tournament at the Pittsburgh Field club.

Denny Shute.

The 32 year old Boston pro, who won the title at Pinehurst last November, thus became the first man to score a consecutive double in the tournament since Leo Diegel captured the 1928 and 1929 championships.

Shute Squares Match at Ninth.

The climax of professional golf top show produced one of the wildest free for all matches in the history of the tournament. It saw the 29 year old McSpaden, reaching for his first major crown, sprint into a 3 up lead through the first five holes. Four holes later the relentless Shute had pared that margin to naught, squaring it at the ninth. The eighteen hole intermission found the champion a tidy three holes up on the Kansas born golfer.

The galleries, noting that 3 up Shute advantage, were convinced that McSpaden could never overtake the taciturn man whose father, a professional, taught him to swing a golf club before he learned the alphabet. They soon learned otherwise.

Shute Has Trouble with Drives.

The quick triggered Shute was shooting his irons well enough, but his aim off the tees was poor, and McSpaden was quick to take advantage of this fault. He shot pars and birdies in rapid fire succession until he left the twenty-seventh green 1 up.

Shute brought himself even again with a par at the twenty-eighth, but yielded the thirty-first and thirty-second to go 2 down.

Came the thirty-fourth, and a par that was good enough to beat a trapped tee shot by McSpaden. Jug was still 1 up, and his pet green of the tournament, the thirty-fifth was next. He had brought down a flock of birdies here during the tournament, but there were none today. He had conceded the hole this morning to a superb iron shot by Shute. This afternoon an even more frightening bogey awaited him. A duel with the shrubbery off the fairway found him taking five shots to reach the rim of the green, and he surrendered it again, squaring the match.

McSpaden Misses Winning Putt.

Thus it was that two of golf's gamest match players trudged up the steep thirty-sixth fairway, hemmed in by a gallery of 5,000. McSpaden outdrove the champion by a full 30 yards. Shute was on, 40 feet below the pin, but McSpaden hit a great chip shot, 5 feet to the right of the hole. Shute left himself almost 4 feet short, and it seemed that McSpaden, who had carried the most blazing putter of the tournament, had the championship. He addressed the ball and then turned away in disgust when a battery of movie cameras began to buzz. He finally stroked the ball toward the hole but it wavered off the line by 3 inches. Shute dropped his to prolong the match.

Denny was on the thirty-seventh green with two well hit shots, 35 feet from the flag. McSpaden, however, bent his second to the top of a mound bordering a trip off the green. He chipped up to 8 feet and missed the putt. Shute then ended the day by holing the 2 foot putt that closed the match and the tournament.

Shute's triumph brought him $1,000 top prize money. McSpaden earned $500. Tony Manero, Peabody, Mass., and Ky Laffoon, Chicago, beaten in the semi-finals, drew $250 each.

Harry Cooper, Chicago; Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. Y.; Byron Nelson, Reading, Pa., and Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., who lost in the quarter finals, made $200 each.

BALK THORNE'S ATTEMPT TO BUY WAY INTO RACE

A. A. A. Bars New Yorker in 500 Mile Event.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 30.—Joel Thorne, wealthy 22 year old New Yorker, was thwarted this evening in an attempt to buy himself into the lineup for the 500 mile automobile race tomorrow.

Joel Thorne.

Charles Merz, chief steward of the American Automobile association's contest board, shouldered complete responsibility for the decision that will keep the 6 foot 4 inch curly haired youth off the track. Thorne said the rules were being changed to apply against him.

The New Yorker, driving one of his five cars which qualified for the event, won a rating as second alternate by averaging 115.602 miles an hour in the 25 mile elimination tests. First alternate position went to Emil Andres of Chicago.

Andres' Car Withdrawn.

Andres' car was withdrawn with the owner, Phil [Red] Shafer of Des Moines, Ia., a former driver, announcing that the torque tube connecting with the differential had been disabled beyond repair. Thorne then gave notice to the A. A. A. board that he had purchased one of the cars in the lineup and was withdrawing it so that as first alternate he would move into the 33d starting position.

The car involved in this purchase was owned by George Lyons, 6733 Perry avenue, Chicago, and driven by Cliff Bergere, a Hollywood stunt man who has finished in the money six times in his nine starts at Indianapolis. Bergere protested and refused $400 from Thorne to stop complaining. The New Yorker threatened to withdraw Bergere's pit crew if he insisted upon starting.

Stunt Man Protests.

Bergere carried his protest to the A. A. A., which governs the race. The contest board faced a delicate problem. In the 25 years of the speed contest the event has been clean of any gossip or scandal.

"It's strictly an aboveboard business proposition," Thorne argued. "We're all professional drivers and owners here to make money. I have a right to protect my investment as I see fit."

Speedway attachés in the conference, according to reports from behind the closed doors, contended, as did Bergere, that it was not sporting to let Thorne buy a position in the lineup that he did not earn in the preliminary tests.

Bergere Will Drive.

Merz, in a terse written statement, announced that there is no alternate in the ordinary understanding of the word, that the 33 listed as the lineup are qualified as starters and no other car is qualified to drive. Bergere is to drive.

"I'm the goat," Thorne said after the meeting. "Even if one of these 33 cars isn't able to run tomorrow, I won't be able to get on the track. It's a new rule for my benefit.

"I think I was fair about this. I might have paid some owner on the quiet not to have his machine ready, and then the officials would have to let me run as first alternate. I'm paying a penalty for having inherited wealth."

In garages this afternoon there was a report that Bob Swanson of Los Angeles may not be able to start. It was said that mechanics would be working all night trying to complete a new crankshaft for his car. If it

Bonura's Bat Gives Lyons Margin Over Cleveland, 9-6

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 30.—The White Sox were offered a chance to browse on southpaw pitching today in the vast acreage of the Municipal stadium. They feasted so heartily that the southpaw—old Earl Whitehill — was gone in less than two innings with six runs charged against the brief appearance. The Chicagoans promptly added three more runs at the expense of their former mate, Whitlow Wyatt, a right hander. Then they proceeded to complete their day's labors with a 9 to 6 victory over the Indians to take the series by a 3 to 1 margin.

Zeke Bonura.

Zeke Bonura, stilled yesterday throughout a double-header, was back today in all his hitting glory. He hit a two bagger to figure in half of a two run first inning. He assaulted Whitehill with another double in the second, this one cleaning up a full house. And in the fourth he cut himself down to a single, thus accounting for one of another pair of runs. Altogether the big man from New Orleans hammered five mates across the plate giving him a season's total of 44.

Fielding Wears Lyons Down.

Although the Sox performed noble hitting deeds in a place supposed to be a pitcher's paradise, they were guilty of some atrocious fielding that eventually wore old Ted Lyons down to the point where he sought assistance. It was given to him with one out in the ninth by that able rescuer Clint Brown, once a member of the Indians.

Without having to worry over the Indians' shooting at the right field fence which is so valuable to them in their regular place of business, Lyons went through five innings on a mere allowance of five hits. By that time he was the possessor of a nine run lead, but in the last four innings they frisked him for five safe drives. However, all the six runs which resulted weren't deserved.

The chief disturber of Lyons' composure was Luke Appling. He perpetrated two wild throws in the sixth, the Indians thereby scoring twice where they should have had nothing. In the next inning Jackie Hayes and Tony Piet offended, two runs scoring without the aid of a hit. But in the ninth the Indians actually earned what they got on a pass and two hits which sent Lyons to the side lines.

Park Makes a Difference.

While perpetrating their two runs on Whitehill in the first inning the Sox demonstrated that the size of the park makes a difference in the game. With one out Kreevich sailed a liner to left center and both Solters

BUDGE AND MAKO CONTINUE SWEEP IN DOUBLES PLAY

Defeat Australian Team in Straight Sets.

Forest Hills, N. Y., May 30.—(AP)—The United States completed the rout of Australia's ailing Davis cup tennis forces today by romping off with the doubles match, thereby making it three straight and settling the outcome of the North American zone finals without the loss of a single set.

The dynamic California combination of Don Budge and Gene Mako whipped Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, 7-5, 6-1, 8-6, in a match that was more one-sided than the scores indicated and which furnished few thrills for a crowd of scarcely 5,000 spectators in the West Side club's stadium.

Seek to Challenge British.

Following yesterday's decisive singles conquests by Budge over Crawford and Bryan Grant over the young Australian substitute, Jack Bromwich, today's victory made the score 3 to 0 in America's favor and clinched this country's right to play the European zone winner, probably Germany, for the right to challenge the cupholding British, shorn this year of the great Fred Perry's services.

Two singles matches will conclude the series tomorrow, with Budge opposing Bromwich and Grant meeting Crawford, but they can affect nothing but the final score.

A Long Trip to Get Beat.

America's three successive triumphs, all gained in straight set fashion in two days of competition, not only clinched the series with unexpected ease but put a dismal finishing touch to Australia's hard luck cup campaign.

Minus the services of their ace, Adrian Quist, because of illness and with McGrath himself barely off the sick list, the Australians came half way around the world only to find themselves too badly handicapped to cope with this country's youthful forces.

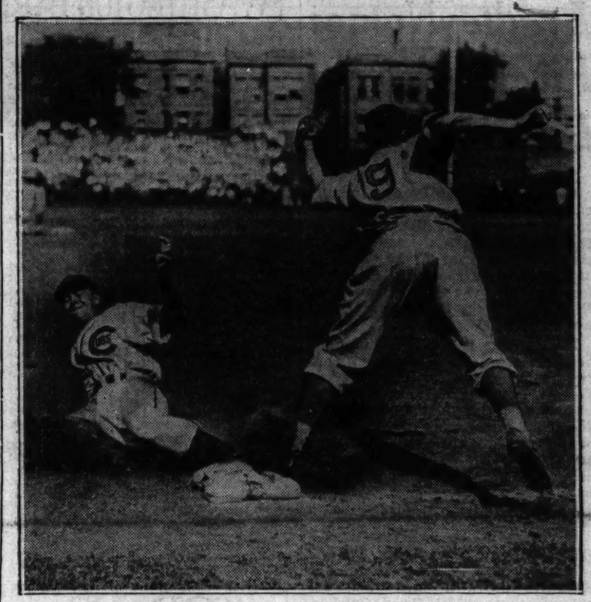
Favored less than a fortnight ago to repeat their triumph of last year, gained by a 3 to 2 margin, the Australians turned out to be hopelessly off form and outclassed. Not only was their prebattle sick list heavy, but it developed, once play started, that the veteran Crawford no longer possessed the speed, the confidence, or the shots to keep pace with his American rivals. The former world champion, on both days, was only a memory of the player who swept all before him a few years ago.

American Hopes Soar.

America's Davis cup hopes now have assumed brighter hue than at any time since the great Bill Tilden and, subsequently, Ellsworth Vines turned from amateur to professional ranks.

Led by the brilliant Budge, this country's team will leave Saturday for Europe and the final stages of a campaign that aims at restoring the classic cup to American hands after a ten year lapse. The interzone finals will be played in mid-July at Wimbledon and the challenge round a week later.

YOU'RE OUT, STAN!



Stanley Hack, Cubs' third baseman, forced out at third base on Joe Marty's bunt in the third inning of yesterday's game at Wrigley field, where the Cubs swept the Cincinnati series by winning, 7 to 1. Third Baseman Riggs is taking the throw from Pitcher Schott.

SWEEP 4 GAME SERIES; FRENCH YIELDS 4 HITS

Pile Up 5 Run Lead in First.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Red spell that has choked the Cubs these many years has been dissipated, at least for the time being. The doughty lads from Cincinnati who for so long have depended upon the Cubs to keep them from falling out of the National League, yesterday got soaked for the fourth time in three days at the hands of those Cubs they used to make miserable. The score was: Cubs, 7; Reds, 1.

There are several gratifying items for Chicago partisans in connection with yesterday's victory beyond the fact that the Cubs beat the Reds to move into third place. First of these to be listed, perhaps, should be the fact that Larry French won his first decision of the season. And he snuffed out the Reds with a total of four singles. Lew Riggs and Billy Myers hit safely in the second inning, Myers beat out an infield scratch in the fifth inning and Kiki Cuyler got hold of one in the eighth.

Solace for Larry.

Larry holds no malice toward the roughhouse Reds because one of their number accidentally busted his right hand on April 28 to keep him out of service three weeks. But since they beat him that day he was delighted to start his victory string against the Cincinnatians.

Then there was the matter of Lee Grissom, spirited young left hander of the Reds. On May 15 Lee whipped the Cubs on two hits, both by Frank Demaree. Peaches Davis had been nominated to pitch yesterday's final, but Grissom went to his boss, Mr. Dressen, and allowed that he would go in out of his turn with great determination to stop the Reds' losing streak at seven straight.

The Brave Die Young.

Well, it was rather brutal the way the Cubs treated one so young and brave as Master Grissom. Mr. Grissom didn't stick around long enough to see a put-out. He was plastered with a double by Augie Galan, a triple by Bill Herman, and successive singles by Rip Collins, Frank Demaree, and Stan Hack before Mr. Dressen could get a shield to bear his fearless gladiator from the scene of carnage.

After getting five runs in the first inning, the Cubs took things easy, it being very torrid in the arena. They did, however, bear down enough to add nine hits off Gene Schott to the five they made off Grissom. The assortment off Schott included a triple by Demaree and a double by Bill Jurges. Multiple hit gents besides Demaree were Galan, Collins, Gabby Hartnett, and Jurges. French was the only Cub who didn't make a hit. Larry, besides his pitching, did a sight of fielding with the erstwhile bum palm. He made six assists and one putout.

Waking Up Mr. Grissom.

It didn't take the Cubs long to convince the eager Mr. Grissom that he wasn't destined to pitch another two hitter against them. Galan opened with a double to left and scored on Herman's triple to right. Grissom's two hit dream was destroyed when Collins singled to center, scoring Herman. Demaree singled to center, Collins reaching third. Hack beat out a single to short, Collins scoring, and when Myers threw away the ball, Demaree reached third. Schott replaced Grissom and Hartnett sent a long fly to Goodman, Demaree scoring. Hack stole second, after which Jurges doubled to right, driving him home. French flied to Kampouris.

Herman's error blossomed into a

Doctors Think Cochrane May Play Ball Again

New York, May 30.—(AP)—Physicians held out definite hope tonight that Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers who suffered a dangerous skull fracture when he was hit by a pitched ball last Tuesday, not only would recover but would be able to play baseball again.

In the most optimistic bulletin they have issued so far, Dr. Robert Emmet Walsh, the Yankees' club physician who has been treating Cochrane since he was injured at the Yankee stadium, and Dr. Byron Stookey, consulting brain specialist, said:

"Mr. Cochrane has been steadily improving. The danger of meningitis has greatly diminished, although it is not entirely gone. Barring this complication we expect Mr. Cochrane to recover completely and again join his team."

The physicians, who were hesitant to predict a complete recovery until tonight, have reported steady progress for the last two days. Mrs. Cochrane, after visiting the hospital last night, returned to her downtown hotel instead of remaining overnight as she had previously.

Hospital authorities said that there would be no further bulletin on the injured player unless a change in his condition warranted it. He was resting comfortably.

NOT THE ANSWER

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—(AP)—The use of polo helmets as a safeguard against the bean ball was tried out in the first inning of the Des Moines-Cedar Rapids Western league game today, but the test failed to solve the problem now puzzling the baseball world.

Players, managers and fans alike agreed that the polo helmets were too heavy and cumbersome, but were unanimous in the opinion that a headgear of lighter weight would protect the hitter from uncontroled pitches.

Several batters objected to the inconvenience in adjusting the helmet and then discarding it en route to first base. The headgears were worn only while the player was at bat, being tossed aside when the hitter reached base or was retired.

DRIVER IS KILLED IN INDIANA RACE TRACK CRACKUP

Winchester, Ind., May 30.—(AP)—Sherman [Red] Campbell, 36, of Indianapolis, was killed in a two car crackup during the automobile racing program here today.

Campbell's car struck another which swerved suddenly in front of it. Campbell was thrown out, landing on his head. He died of a fractured skull and punctured lung en route to the hospital.

The driver of the other car was unhurt.

IGLEHART, PHIPPS PACE VICTORIES IN POLO MATCHES

Westbury, Long Island, May 30.—[Special.]—Two leaders in America's successful defense of the Westchester cup in England last year—Stewart Iglehart and Michael Phipps—led the Whites to victories today in Meadow Brook club members' polo matches.

Iglehart headed a successful White quartet which turned back Tommy Hitchcock Jr.'s blue-shirted riders, 9 to 8, through a last minute goal by Gerald Dempsey.

Phipps tallied six times to lead another White combination to victory over a Red four, 14 to 4.

12 NAMED FOR BLUE AND GRAY HANDICAP TODAY

Denemark Entry Favorite in Homewood Stake.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The struggle for honors among the older route running horses in Chicago this year will get under way at the Washington Park track today when the $5,000 Blue and Gray Memorial handicap will be renewed.

It is a test at a mile and an eighth. The overnight field included an even dozen starters and at least ten are expected to accept the issue at post time shortly before 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Emil Denemark's entry of Finance, Two Bob, and War Emblem is sure to rule as the favorite with Raoul Walsh's imported horse, Grand Manitou, and Warren Wright's Count Morse also coming in for stout backing.

Finance Carries 122 Pounds.

Count Morse gave Grand Manitou a four length whipping in the Clark handicap at Churchill Downs a month ago. He carried 119 pounds in that race to Grand Manitou's 116. Today Count Morse must shoulder 120 pounds while Grand Manitou gets into the race with only 111.

The high weight of the field goes to Mrs. Denemarks Finance. His impost will be 122 pounds. He will be making his first start of the year in Chicago and it will be his first trip to the post since he finished second, beaten narrowly in the Dixie handicap in Maryland on May 8. Odds against the Denemark entry probably will be 2 to 1.

Chicagoans will get their first glimpse of the year of Mrs. John Hertz's Our Reigh, a 5 year old route running son of Reigh Count-Anita Peabody. Our Reigh is asked to carry only 105 pounds. He is here fresh from a spring campaign on New York tracks where he showed steady improvement.

Eaglepass Only Youngster.

E. F. Woodward, whose colorbearers have won all the stake races offered so far this year at Washington Park, will be represented by Eaglepass, the only 3 year old named for the race. This colt has won his last three races, all run at Churchill Downs. He scored victories both in the fast and muddy going.

Officials at Washington Park have made preparations to handle a holiday throng of 30,000. In other years this particular holiday has been one of the best of the season as far as horse racing is concerned.

The Blue and Gray handicap headlines the most attractive card offered in Chicago this season. Eleven candidates for the coming American Derby will meet in the six furlong fourth race and the opening race has attracted ten of the most highly regarded 2 year olds now racing in Chicago. Practically all of them are eligible not only to the Washington Park futurity, but to the Arlington Park futurity as well.

Dozen Special Trains.

Anticipating a record crowd the Illinois Central announced last night that it will operate more than a dozen special trains from the loop, the first of which will depart at 12:05 o'clock. There will be no change in the 2:15 post time for the first race.

Jocky Keester vs. Weight—a Daily Battle

Few jockies can lose or take on weight more rapidly than Paul Keester, who is laboring more faithfully than ever this year to keep the pounds off him. After riding at 115 pounds in the afternoon he's as likely as not to weigh 123 the next morning. He frequently weighs 122 when he reports during the early morning hours and rides at 116 or less in the afternoon.

Warren Wright's 2 year old Taxes, which ran second to Milky Way Farm's sensationally speedy colt Mountain Ridge last week, is to make the second start of his career in the second race today.

After he fills his engagement in the historic Suburban handicap at Belmont Park in New York today Mrs. John Hertz's 5 year old Count Arthur will be shipped to Washington Park.

Jocky Charley Kurtsinger departs Friday for Belmont Park to ride War Admiral in the Belmont stakes on Saturday. He will return to Chicago the following Monday.

CHICAGO YACHTS FINISH 1-2 IN MILWAUKEE RACE

Two Chicago yachts led the fleet competing in the Milwaukee Yacht club's regatta yesterday. Bagheera, Commodore John T. [Bud] Snite's schooner, won the event for A class cruising craft. Its time was one second under two hours, for the 10 nautical miles. Bagheera is the flagship of the Great Lakes Cruising club. Joseph Butler's schooner, Ben Bow, was second in 2:08.27. Ben Bow flies the Chicago Yacht club burgee. A Milwaukee Y. C. schooner, Clio, owned and sailed by B. Y. E. Norberg, was third in 2:14.46.

Chicago Takes Lead in Illinois Cricket League

Chicago went into first place in the Illinois Cricket league by defeating Melbourne, 99 to 66, at Washington park yesterday. In other games played Washington Park beat Oak Park, 129 to 32; Winnetka defeated Garfield Park, 112 to 58; Hyde Park defeated Lake Shore, 122 to 64, and Lake Forest beat Milwaukee, 73 to 59.

22 to Start Wednesday in Epsom Derby

LONDON, May 30.—(AP)—Twenty-one colts and one filly, bred in three countries, will try conclusions Wednesday in the most colorful of England's turf classics, the 158th running of the Epsom Derby.

Three favorites for the mile and a half race over the tricky Epsom turf represent as many nations—Le Ksar from France, the American-bred Perifox, owned by William Woodward, and Lord Astor's Cash Book, England's chief hope.

Le Ksar Horse to Beat.

Le Ksar, owned by Evremond de St. Alary, is considered the horse to beat as a result of his decisive victory in the Two Thousand Guineas, first of the season's classics. The colt showed speed and stamina in winning by four lengths over a soggy course that was not to his liking. Returned to France, Le Ksar finished second in the French Guineas but ran impressively.

Perifox, son of the famous American racer, Gallant Fox, and Periwinkle II, suffered an interruption in his training due to a slight leg injury but is now reported as coming along nicely. Perifox was not a candidate for the Two Thousand Guineas and was not taken seriously as a derby factor until he won the Payne stakes at Newmarket three weeks ago.

Cash Book Popular.

A victory for Cash Book would be most popular in England as Lord Astor's bad luck in the Derby has become proverbial. He has never had a Derby winner, and his colt Early School, most promising of last year's two year olds, developed an ailment last winter and is out of training. Cash Book did little running last year but progressed rapidly when put into serious training and impressed the experts by a stylish victory in the Newmarket stakes. In that race he beat a number of Derby candidates, including Fair Copy, Full Sail, The Hour and Solfo.

Other outstanding candidates include Mid-Day Sun, owned by Mrs. G. B. Miller and her mother, Mrs. C. Talbot; Major J. S. Courtauld's Solfo; Marcel Boussac's Goya II, and the only filly, Sir John Jarvis' Gainsborough Lass.

Boston, Philadelphia Win in Lacrosse Tournament

Cambridge, Mass., May 30.—(AP)—Boston and Philadelphia teams won their second straight contests today in the United States Women's Lacrosse association tournament. Marjorie Lockley, English star, and Helen Lilly, each with four goals, paced Boston to a 14 to 1 victory over Westchester, N. Y. Philadelphia beat a team selected from reserve players of other groups in the tourney, 11 to 0. In the third game of the day, New York defeated Chicago, 7 to 1.

Schwabens Win from Wackers in Soccer, 8 to 3

BY OFFSIDE.

The Schwabens soccer team defeated the Wacker F. C. of Milwaukee yesterday afternoon, 8 to 3. The Wackers were a last minute substitute for the Cincinnati Kickers, delayed because of transportation difficulties.

Soufal paced the Schwabens attack, scoring three goals. Nunnermanner was next with two. Beck was most successful for the Wackers, scoring twice.

Leading throughout the game, the Schwabens made sure of victory by scoring three times in the last period.

Only one soccer game is scheduled for today, the Olympias and Spartas clashing in a professional game at the Olympia stadium, 19th and Kilpatrick avenue, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

HENKEL DEFEATS AUSTIN TO WIN FRENCH NET TITLE

PARIS, May 30.—(AP)—Heinrich Henkel, Germany's No. 2 player, crowned his quick rise to tennis stardom today when he defeated Henry W. [Bunny] Austin of England, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, to win the French hardcourt singles championship. He succeeds his Davis cup teammate, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, who did not defend the title he won last year from Fred Perry.

Henkel's triumph gave Germany a clean sweep of the singles as the German born Mrs. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling took the women's title today with a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Mme. Rene Mathieu of France.

Austin tired under a scorching sun and the German's service produced repeated aces. Henkel's drop shots also gave England's No. 1 player trouble.

As Von Cramm and Henkel had won the men's doubles title a week ago, today's performance, in the opinion of the experts, proved them to be a pair that will be hard to overcome in the Davis cup competition. They're favored to win the European zone competition and to give Germany a great chance to survive the interzone final and lift the cup from Great Britain.

PHILLIES BREAK GIANTS' 8 GAME WINNING STREAK

Triumph, 6-3; Hit Three Home Runs.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 30.—(AP)—The Phillies halted the New York Giants' winning streak at eight straight today, winning, 6 to 3.

Three home runs, by Camilli, Grace and Klein, paved the way for the Philadelphia triumph. Ott also hit a home run, his eighth of the season, in the ninth inning.

Wayne La Master, tiny southpaw, shut out the Giants with five hits in the first eight innings but weakened and was replaced by Jorgens, who halted the rally.

YANKEES ROUT ATHLETICS, 13-1; SWEEP SERIES

New York, May 30.—(AP)—The big guns of the Yankees wheeled into action today to drub the Philadelphia Athletics, 13 to 1, sweep the three game series, tighten the champion's hold on first place in the American league and complete a highly successful home stay.

The victory, achieved behind the steady eight hit, five strikeout pitching of Lefty Gomez, gave the Yanks their tenth victory in 12 starts on the home stay they ended with today's one-sided conquest.

The Yankees took the lead with a six run splurge off Harry Kelley in the first inning, and completed the rest of their 15 hit attack off Herman Fink and Randall Gumpert.

Lou Gehrig, continuing the heavy hitting that has followed his recent slump, smashed out his fifth homer with one on in the second. Red Rolfe did the same thing in the first.

and Averill chased it to the distant wall while Mike was racing to third. He scored when Walker poked a twister past Hughes for a double. Bonura lined to right center and again two outfielders went on a long sprint. Walker scored and Zeke pulled up at second, but didn't get assistance from Appling or Hayes.

Piet and Sewell opened the second with singles and it wasn't long before four runs were home and Whitehill was among the departed. Piet, who went to third on Sewell's hit, scored when Lyons smashed into a double play. Radcliff walked. Kreevich beat out a high bounding hit to Hughes and Walker filled the bases by sneaking a single past Whitehill. This completed the setting for Bonura. Zeke looked over a couple of pitches and then rammed a line double against the fence close to the left field line. Radcliff, Kreevich, and Walker paraded across the plate. Wyatt then came in to make Appling the victim of the third out.

Two More Sox Score.

Wyatt wasn't disturbed in the third but wasn't as fortunate in the fourth, two of the Sox scoring. After Lyons had been set down on a short fly which Averill caught after a mad sprint, Radcliff walked, but was forced by Kreevich. Kreevich stole second and Walker beat out another infield hit. Bonura immediately added to his collection. He smacked a single to left, scoring Kreevich. Appling slapped a single to right and Walker scooted home. Wyatt straightened out the trouble by getting Hayes on a pop fly to Trosky.

The Sox did a little more sharpshooting in the fifth, one scoring. Piet singled to right for a starter. Sewell hit a weak grounder to Wyatt, but was awarded a base because Umpire Basil detected Sullivan in the act of tipping the bat. Sewell was forced by Lyons, Piet going to third whence he scored on Radcliff's single to left. Kreevich and Walker flied out.

It's All Appling's Fault.

Everything that happened in the Indians' sixth when two scored can be charged to Appling. After the first two men had been dispatched Appling picked up a bounder off Averill's bat and tossed it wild past Bonura, the runner going to second. Trosky singled to right and Averill scored. Solters walked and Hale filled the bases by singling to deep short. Sullivan bounced to Appling who let loose a wild throw which pulled Bonura off the bag, Trosky scoring. The jam was halted on Hughes' foul to Sewell.

Hayes and Piet shared the blame for the two Indian runs in the seventh. Heath batted for Wyatt and was safe when Hayes fumbled. This disturbed Lyons to the extent of passes to Lary and Campbell. Averill grounded to Piet, but Tony threw wild to Bonura, Heath scoring. Lyons decided he had best rely on himself for help so fanned Trosky. Lary scampered home while Solters was forcing Averill on a roller to Hayes. The hitless inning was completed on Hale's force of Solters.

Lyons got into the ninth inning melee on a pass to Campbell and a double by Averill, and out went Lyons. Clint Brown did the rest. Hale fouled to Bonura and Sullivan grounded to Bonura.

Riggs Heads Seeded List in New England Tourney

Hartford, Conn., May 30.—(AP)—Four far western players are included among the seeded eight who will seek the New England tennis championship in the week-long tournament begining tomorrow. Robert Riggs of Los Angeles, Cal., is seeded No. 1 in the list that includes Walter Senior of San Francisco, Cal., and Wayne Sabin and Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore.

Sox Come Home to Play Browns in 2 Games Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 30.—The White Sox started for home tonight and will observe Memorial day tomorrow by playing a double-header with the Browns at Comiskey park. Monty Stratton and Merritt [Sugar] Cain will try their skill on Rogers Hornsby's forces.

The mystery boy who for two years has turned up in every town in which the White Sox played made his 1937 debut today. The players had begun to suspect he either was dead or in jail some place. He explained everything by saying he had attended the coronation in London. He bums his way from town to town, but didn't tell how he managed the overseas trip.

Moving the game to the Stadium didn't work out exactly according to attendance expectations. There were about 15,000 present, not a poor crowd, but practically nothing in the vast structure, which can seat 78,100.

In the fourth inning after Campbell had singled with none out, Averill hit a fly ball which Kreevich took in not far from the 435 foot sign in right center. In the Indians' regular park this drive would have cleared the right field wall not to mention the street behind the wall. It also might have been a homer in spacious Comiskey park.

Cubs Defeat Reds, 7-1, to Sweep Series

Cincy run in the second. With one out Bill booted V. Davis' grounder. Kampouris flied to Galan, but Riggs and Myers knocked successive singles, V. Davis counting on Myers' effort.

In the third Demaree led off with a triple and Hack walked. Hartnett singled to center, scoring Demaree, but Marty forced Hack at third, Schott to Riggs. Jurges flied to Walker.

Seven for One.

It took seven Cubs to produce the one run accomplished in the fifth. Demaree and Hack walked, but Demaree was forced at third on Hartnett's bunt. Marty beat out an infield single, filling the bases, and Jurges singled over second, scoring Hack. French forced Hartnett at the plate and Galan flied to Walker.

FACE DEAN, WARNEKE

The Cubs left early this morning for St. Louis, where they will play a double-header with the Cardinals this afternoon before taking off for New York. Bill Lee will pitch the opener and it will be either Charley Root or Clay Bryant in the second game. The Cards announced that they will throw their two aces, Lon Warneke and Dizzy Dean, at the Cubs.

Powel Crosley, multi-millionaire owner of the Roughhouse Reds, flew up from Cincinnati in his plane to see his chattels take their eighth successive licking. He made the trip in an hour and 17 minutes, pretty much of a hurry considering the attraction.

Umpire in chief Beans Reardon yesterday reversed himself twice after conferring with base umpires on half-hitch third strikes. This must be a record, it was said by grizzled veterans.

The Cubs, after losing their first three starts against the Reds, now have won five straight from the boys from Cincy. In their home stand, which ended with 19,385 looking on yesterday, the Cubs won nine and lost four.

is not completed there may be only thirty-two starters tomorrow. And in this case, had Thorne kept his mouth and his pocketbook closed, he might have been in the lineup.

Aside from this squabble, the fastest field in the 25 years of racing here is ready for the starter's bomb tomorrow morning. The two and a half mile track has been made faster by resurfacing the four turns.

GEORGE F. BAKER, BANKER, DIES ON YACHT IN HAWAII

Operation at Sea Fails to Save Him.

HONOLULU, May 30.—(AP)—George F. Baker, New York banker and reputedly one of the nation's wealthiest men died today aboard his big steam yacht Viking in Honolulu harbor, a peritonitis victim despite far-flung efforts by air and sea to save his life. He was 59 years old.

George F. Baker.

Baker, chairman of the First National Bank of New York, succumbed early in the morning after physicians and nurses had worked fruitlessly throughout the night. At least one blood transfusion was given.

Death won the battle despite the combined efforts of the coast guard, the naval air patrol, the public health service, an ocean liner, a 300 mile race into port with the stricken financier, and a 5,500 mile air dash by Mrs. Baker from New York to Honolulu.

Father a Financial Giant.

Baker's death was the second in recent years to affect the family and bank. His father, George F. Baker, died in May, 1931, at the age of 91. The elder Baker was regarded as a colossus of the financial world.

Baker became ill last Tuesday as the yacht, with a party of friends, was heading toward Honolulu from the Fiji Islands. An operation was performed at sea and the yacht sailed into port Friday morning a few hours ahead of Mrs. Baker. Baker rallied for a time.

The Viking left the Atlantic coast last spring with the banker and a party of men friends for what Baker described as "a stag cruise."

Although Baker was little known outside the financial world, he had a fortune estimated variously at from 150 to 500 million dollars.

A Dodger of Publicity.

A medium sized man, with thin black hair, smooth shaven, and wearing spectacles, Baker always sought to escape public attention as did his famous father.

When in New York the younger Baker went every day to his desk in the bank.

The active head of the bank, however, is Leon Fraser, its president.

Nearly a year ago the junior Baker was succeeded as director and member of the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation by Fraser.

MARTHA R. WHITE, CHICAGO EDITOR'S DAUGHTER, DIES

Decorated by Queen of Belgium in War.

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—Miss Martha Root White, youngest daughter of a Chicago editor and author of 60 years ago, died here today of pneumonia. She had been ill more than a month.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning in the chapel of St. Thomas' church, after which relatives will take the body to Chicago for burial at Graceland cemetery where the bodies of Miss White's parents, Horace and Amelia MacDougall White, lie. No service is planned in Chicago.

Decorated by Queen.

Miss White was a graduate of Bryn Mawr and during the world war won considerable distinction for her work overseas in the surgical dressing service and in the American Red Cross. For her work in behalf of the fighting men of Belgium she was decorated at the express request of the queen.

After the war Miss White was instrumental in founding the Soldiers and Sailors' club here, a social service organization for returned veterans.

With a sister she was owner of a large ranch in Arizona where thoroughbred horses were raised. She also was part owner of properties in New Mexico. Most of her time was spent in the southwest, although she retained a residence here.

Father a Tribune Editor.

Horace White was editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and a partner of Joseph Medill from 1865 to 1874. He then moved to New York where he became editor of the Evening Post in 1883, retiring in 1903. He was widely known also as the author of several books and translations. He died in 1916.

Two of his daughters now survive. They are Miss Amelia Elizabeth White of New York and Mrs. Abby White Howells of Kittery Point, Me., and New York.

MADISON GRANT, WHO SAVED GIANT REDWOODS, DIES

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—Madison Grant, to whose inspiration New Yorkers owe their famed Bronx river parkway and Americans the country over owe the preservation of California's huge redwood trees, died today at his home.

Long a sufferer from nephritis, he was taken seriously ill about a week ago. He was 71 years old.

A big game hunter, an organizer of the American Bison society, originator of one of the finest park systems in this country, an author of many books, and an eugenist of note, Grant was a member of a family every member of which had been born within fifty miles of the New York city hall. Although he was proud of his closeness to this city, his fame had spread across the continent, and the tallest tree in the United States is dedicated to the memory of himself and his associates.

TRADING CREEPS AS NEW FEARS DISTURB MARKET

Brokerage Firms Revive "Scotch Week."

New York, May 30.—[Special.]—A state of inactivity settled over the stock market during the last week as traders retreated to the sidelines to await developments on the complexities and uncertainties besetting the progress of the list.

All in all, it was one of the most lifeless weeks that the financial sector has witnessed since the acute stages of the depression. In two of the five sessions the total turnover just barely exceeded the half million share mark and on Friday the street spent its slowest day in more than two years, the trading volume amounting to a scanty 558,950 shares. This was the dullest day since April 3, 1935, when 529,418 shares changed hands.

Brokers Are Gloomy.

Brokerage houses are shrouded in gloom because the dwindling amount of brokers' commissions is forcing firms to turn their thoughts toward economy. And the result is a revival of the so-called "Scotch week," or enforced vacations without pay. Worse yet, however, are increasing reports that some houses are being forced to trim their staffs.

In the opinion of competent observers the aimlessness and hesitancy of the market are a reflection of the perplexity over what will be the year's later developments in company activities and prices. In the main, those in close touch with opinion in financial circles declare the underlying sentiment continues hopeful, but the one big factor that remains a question mark is the developments in the field of organized labor.

Bearish Feeling Prevails.

While the view persisted in many quarters as the market settled to lower levels during the week—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S average for fifty stocks registered a decline of 1.12 points—that the new crop of steel strikes would be settled amicably, a generally bearish feeling was reported. It is the view of many that the constant hammering against industrial management by labor politicians and many whose aim, it is suspected, is primarily that of bringing about changes i. our economic system are not calculated to encourage capital.

Steel issues found themselves in the limelight and they turned in a performance worthy of leaders. While many commentators expected a recession because of the labor troubles, the group managed to hold its own.

As a rule, however, price changes throughout the list were insignificant.

Eastern Rolling Mill.

Investors' Guide: I will greatly appreciate receiving information in regard to stock of Eastern Rolling Mill.—H. D. A.

Answer: The Eastern Rolling Mill company resumed operations in November, 1933, after a lapse of sixteen months, and emerged from the red in 1936 for the first time since 1929.

Originally dependent on the automotive industry for consumption of high grade steel sheets, its only product, the company has diversified operations to include galvanized and stainless steel sheets used in manufacture of steel furniture, hospital equipment, refrigerators, lockers, metal partitions and other items, as well as automobile bodies and radiator shells.

Plants are located in Baltimore, Md., and have a capacity of 90,000 tons of steel annually.

Operations in the first quarter of 1937 were reported at a seven year high, with net income amounting to $63,000, or 30 cents a share, compared with $8,480, or 4 cents, in the first quarter of 1936.

Sales were $4,385,000 and net income was $72,000, or 34 cents a share, in 1936, compared with sales of $4,254,000 and loss of $134,000 in 1935. Losses amounted to $347,000 in 1934, $278,000 in 1933, $488,000 in 1932, $515,000 in 1931, and $321,000 in 1930.

Operations in the preceding seven years were profitable, net income declining from a 1923 high of $1,516,000 to $223,000 in 1927, and rising to $753,000 in 1928. The 1929 net income was $594,000.

Current assets were $1,864,000 and current liabilities were $1,144,000 on Dec. 31, 1936.

Aside from a balance of $440,000 remaining on a $500,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation in 1935 to provide working capital, outstanding capitalization consists solely of 210,000 shares of $5 par common stock.

No dividends have been paid since 1930.

The stock is a speculation.

Dividend Arrears.

Investors' Guide: I own a few shares of Public Service Company of Indiana and 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock which discontinued dividends about 1932. If I should sell now, who would receive the dividend arrears in the event the company endeavors to clear them up?—E. A. C.

Answer: Dividends are payable to the person who owns stock at the time a dividend is declared and paid.

Everyday Economics

This daily feature is presented in response to requests for simple explanations of matters concerning finance, business, and the markets. Suggestions from readers are welcomed. Address "Editor, Everyday Economics."

Types of Securities.

"I am sure," writes a reader, "that many persons are as foggy as I when I see the terms 'common and preferred stock, mortgage bonds, debentures, notes, collateral trust notes, real estate bonds' and other types of securities. What are they? How do they differ? Will you please set me straight?"

The essential difference between stocks, common and preferred, and bonds, notes or debentures, is simple. Stocks represent a proportionate share in the ownership of the business. Stockholders are partners who share the ups and downs of the business, getting a return on their investment when earnings justify payment of a dividend, receiving nothing when the company is unable to pay.

Bondholders, however, are creditors. They lend their money to the corporation. This loan is usually secured by some form of collateral, possibly a mortgage on buildings or equipment, in the case of equipment trust certificates by the cars which the railroad bought with the borrowed money. The bondholder lends his money, is promised a specified rate of interest, and the length of time the loan will run is usually specified.

Tomorrow: Common stock.

Strikes Cause Sharp Drop in Steel Output

Labor strikes in the plants of several independent steel producers last week resulted in a drop of 16½ points in the national steel operating rate to 75 per cent of ingot capacity, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

The Youngstown operating rate dropped 50 points to 30 per cent of capacity, while Chicago was off 10 points to 75 per cent and Cleveland off 17 points to 65 per cent. Other declines included 2 points at Pittsburgh to 94 per cent, 1 point in eastern Pennsylvania to 72½, 5 points at Detroit to 95, and 45 points in New England to 55 per cent of capacity.

Two Districts Show Gains.

Buffalo gained 3 points to 91 per cent and Wheeling 2 points to 96 per cent. There was no change at St. Louis at 94, Cincinnati at 90, and Birmingham at 83 per cent.

"Closing of several plants by strikes has thrown the steel market into confusion," said Steel, "production and deliveries being stopped to a sufficient degree to cause apprehension among consumers supplied from affected mills.

"Should the interruption be of long duration, steel users dependent on the idle plants for supplies will exert pressure on other suppliers in the effort to obtain materials. With deliveries still considerably delayed by their normal customer demands, these steelmakers probably are not in a position to give much help."

Scrap Metal Market Clouded.

The scrap metal market is also clouded by effects of the strikes, the magazine continued. Dealers in many cases were caught with cars in transit and are faced with the problem of diverting them to other markets. The decline in scrap prices is believed to be about at an end. Steel making grades in Chicago and Pittsburgh held to their previous levels last week, but quotations in most centers were largely nominal. Steel's scrap composite declined 29 cents to $17.60 a ton, due mostly to weakness in the east.

A moderate resumption of buying by wire and strip users was noted in the eastern territory, the magazine said. This was believed to be an advance sign of covering for third quarter requirements and supports the belief that current shipments are being used in production as rapidly as received.

WESTINGHOUSE INCOME GAINS OVER YEAR AGO

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company last night reported net income of $5,341,512 for the quarter ended March 31, compared with $3,732,454 in the first quarter of 1936.

Sales billed in the first quarter totaled $46,673,300, compared with $33,981,280 a year earlier, a gain of 37 per cent, while orders booked were $74,242,584, against $42,515,469, an increase of 75 per cent. Unfilled orders on March 31, 1937, amounted to $73,735,326.

WHEAT RECEDES AS RAINS LESSEN DROUTH MENACE

U. S. and Canada Receive Beneficial Moisture.

Moderate showers fell over wide areas of the dry southwestern winter wheat belt last week. Good rains were received in the spring wheat territory of Alberta and Saskatchewan, largest Canadian wheat producing provinces. They received enough rain to dispel, at least temporarily, talk of drouth damage. The result was a sharp decline in wheat prices, for rains, with the crop in its present condition, mean a better growth and a bigger harvest means lower prices.

In Chicago, July wheat slumped about 10 cents a bushel and other deliveries fell nearly as much. In Winnipeg, heavy losses also were recorded but Liverpool ignored the recession in American markets.

Price Decline Normal.

Normally, the present period of the year is one when prices move lower. Imminence of the winter wheat harvest, which will be in full swing within a few weeks, coupled with hedge selling by millers and commercial interests which are seeking to protect themselves against possible losses on the large amount of wheat they buy from growers, often, but not always, result in temporary sharp downturns in prices.

That the recent decline was not larger is attributed to the fact that the outcome of the domestic winter wheat crop still is uncertain. The rapid disappearance of old crop wheat stocks foreshadows an unusually broad demand for the harvest run of new wheat. In addition, the scarcity of corn and its high price promise a greatly increased substitution of wheat for corn in feeding live stock.

Foreign Markets Laggard.

That foreign markets have not fully followed the declines here is caused by the fact that the available supplies of wheat throughout the world are small and European crop prospects are anything but bright.

Some wheat from the 1937 harvest has been received at elevators in Texas, although the main movement will not get under way for several weeks. The Kansas crop, because of unusually cool weather, is later than usual. This tardiness may affect the size of the crop. Many reports assert additional rainfall is essential to prevent deterioration where there is little or no sub-soil moisture.

Reports of heaviest damage to winter wheat have come from western Kansas and Nebraska, parts of western Oklahoma and the Texas panhandle. In the eastern belt, crop conditions are much better than they were early in May.

A CORRECTION

In a recent advertisement of steel files, loose-leaf binders, sheets, printed forms, etc., offered "direct to user," we created the impression that we were manufacturers of steel files. We regret such error.

We do not manufacture steel files, although we are manufacturers of loose-leaf binders, sheets, record and printed forms, etc., which we sell direct to the user.

CHICAGO TRADE IS BOOSTED BY TRIPLE HOLIDAY

A heavy pre-holiday trade boosted commercial activity in Chicago last week slightly above the level of the same week a year ago, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Purchases of sports and vacation equipment were reported unusually heavy.

The bad effects of the steel strike were not so far-reaching as had been expected, according to the report.

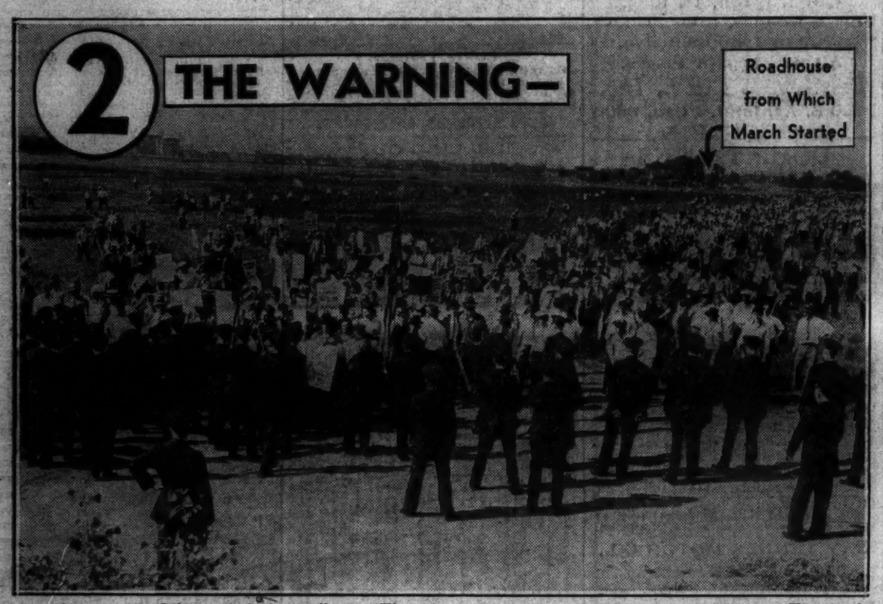
Strike Rioters Attack Police in South Chicago—Four Killed and Scores Injured in Brief Battle

PICTURE STORY OF SOUTH CHICAGO BATTLE

In this yard at Sam's place at 11317 Green Bay avenue, just across the field from the Republic Steel company's plant at South Chicago, a crowd of C. I. O. steel strikers met yesterday afternoon to hear an oration by Leo Krzycki, regional director of the C. I. O. After listening to Krzycki and other speakers, the crowd became a mob—and just across the prairie was the object of their hatred, the Republic plant, where nonstriking employes remained at their tasks, protected by police.



Across this field surged the strikers. They picked up clubs, slingshots, and brickbats. Those who could find no other weapons stripped their own cars of cranks and gearshift levers. Many carried heavy steel bolts for missils. As they neared the plant they met a line of policemen barring their way. Those in front stopped; those in the rear crowded forward. Capt. Thomas Kilroy of the police stepped forward and asked the crowd to disperse. "We must do our duty," he warned.

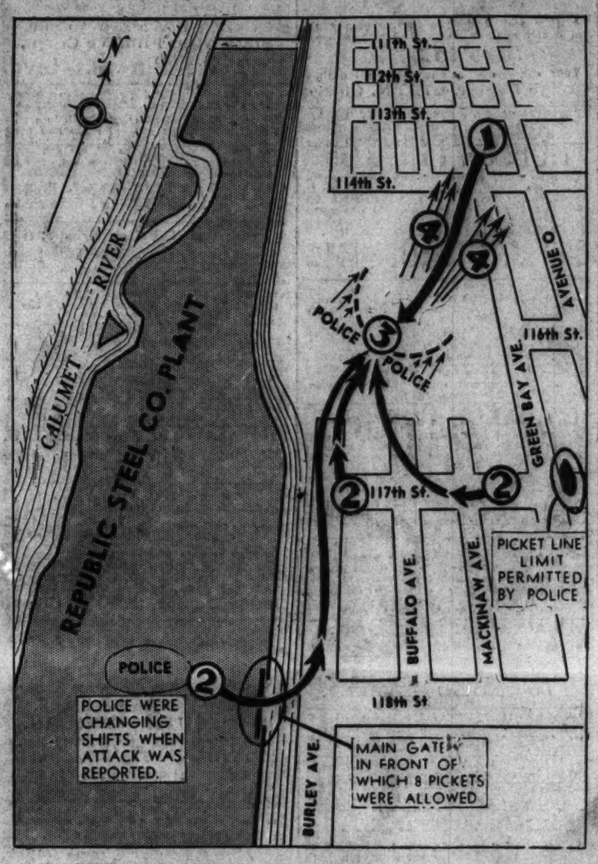
The answer to Capt. Kilroy's warning was a shower of missils from those who were hidden deep in the mob of strikers, and the battle was on. Pushed from behind, the rioters surged forward. Those in front, forced to battle by their less brave allies in the rear, took a terrific beating from the police. Police answered gunfire with tear gas and more gunfire. The tear gas was ineffectual and police clubs and gunfire turned the rioters back only after the loss of four lives. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

POLICE AID INJURED—With the rioters in retreat, the policemen carried the injured to ambulances to be taken to hospitals.

AFTER THE BATTLE—This rioter, struck by a club, was carried to the patrol wagon and removed to hospital for treatment.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

AT HEIGHT OF THE BATTLE—Here are policemen using their nightsticks and tear gas to subdue their attackers, many of whom have fallen in the short-lived melee.



STRIKE RIOT STEP BY STEP—Steel workers held meeting at C. I. O. headquarters (1) at which plans for attack were made. Police stationed at three points (2) heard of advance of strikers and joined forces (3). When strikers began throwing missils police formed "pincers" line for resistance and forced rioters to retreat (4). The Republic Steel plant occupies the shaded area.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

WOMEN IN MOB SUBDUED BY POLICE FORCE—Three women are in the group above which felt the force of law and order. Many are lying on the ground to escape blows from the defending force's nightsticks or stray shots from police guns. There was a scramble to get out of the way after the fight started.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

ESCORTED FROM FRAY—Able to walk, but wounded about the head, this steel strike rioter is escorted from the battleground by a policeman.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

DRAGGED OFF FIELD—This rioter, unable or unwilling to walk, was dragged off the field by policemen who dispersed mob of C. I. O. steel strikers.
